I

Exactly as with the initial volume in this series, I maintain that it is pointless and even silly to keep harping on about mere anecdotal evidence which may pertain to anything. In this instance it is conspiracy. It's in the dictionary just as it is in the law books. Of course it's real. But that's not the question. The real question - exactly as with the "Big Lie" itself - is whether such a thing as conspiracy can actually GOVERN the affairs of nations and even the whole world.

This is so closely related to the matter of the "Big Lie" that it is worth taking that up for a brief moment. It was Hitler in Mein Kampf who first introduced this concept. Since then, however, the ignorant and the liars have told the world that Hitler ADVOCATED and certainly PRACTICED the "Big Lie" technique. Well, there you also have the perfect example of the "Big Lie" at work. Hitler was actually exposing the "Big Lie" as a prime tool of the World Enemy.

Lying just as with conspiring is nothing strange to most people. Except that most people know it is wrong and may only "slip" and engage in this sort of thing on a very small and very irregular basis. It does not constitute their fundamental make-up nor does it represent their primary worldview or routine modus operandi. In this sense people are weak.

They are weaker still when it comes to their being totally incapable of seeing the potential in others of lying on a grand scale, from a position of power, trust and influence, regularly, routinely, professionally and with an eye toward nothing so common as mere profit but truly a baleful influence over the affairs of men. This is only human nature.

Now then, just as with volumes past, we approach the meat of the issue: What are the implications of this? If it's real then it directly implies TWO different kinds of people. At least two different kinds, I should say. And, just as always, we here will be regarding the fate and the fortunes of only the White race of people. Ironically enough, a good study of the nature of the conspiracy itself will underscore the reasons for this as least as well as any other argument possibly could.

Lying and conspiring. They go hand-in-hand. The one couldn't be without the other. I've posed the question time and again in my works: "Why lie?" To cover something, of course. To deceive someone, to protect yourself from something. Then onto a grand level and we arrive at actual conspiracy. Now we have groups working in harmony in the service of a lie.

It is well at this time to consult the dictionary for a concise definition of exactly what does constitute conspiracy: "To plan secretly an unlawful act." We need not bother to quote any law books because we easily can understand the corporate aspect of this. When we get into the realm of criminality, however, the lines may perhaps become somewhat blurred for what in reality constitutes actual criminality?

In practically all of my works I come out and directly attack the concept of so-called "democracy". I call it "managed confusion" and so it is. Implications again. Who are the managers? More implications. What are their objectives? And I've attacked the popular concept of so-called "freedom" as being merely a ploy to get the population even more confused while permitting the conspirators more or less free rein to prey at will.

And besides all that, within this atmosphere of legalized, enforced confusion every group seems to be organized to promote its own good within a common framework (and I'll really be getting back to that word, "framework".) Every group, that is, EXCEPT the Whites. You don't have to imagine long how such a move would be met generally. "Fascist!" "Nazi!" "Racist!"

Things do really give themselves away if only you have the capacity to question, to look and to see. So we have a non-group, the Whites who still make up at least half the population of the United States and who most assuredly make up the FRAMEWORK over which the whole thing is draped. Imagine that: No representation. And how in hell could it ever have arrived at that?

More implications. This almost gets to be like algebra. The majority has no group promoting its exclusive welfare. Of course I realize that the U.S. government itself, together with all its institutions, is supposed to be doing this. At least that would be the assumption. Here's the "Big Lie" once more. Who could - or would want to - imagine that the government itself is but a sham, a "front office" for an international criminal conspiracy which has absolutely NO REGARD for the welfare of the American people? And I specifically refer to the Whites.

The "Big Lie" is so big, so awesome that it, in effect, covers itself.

Then from non-groups, the non-representation of the Whites, to hidden groups. Whites may constitute the framework here but they wield NO POWER, NO INFLUENCE. But there is power, there is influence and to a positively DICTATORIAL extent. Where is that group? What is that group?

But this short book doesn't have as its intention to blow any whistles as though any new discovery has been made. Far from it. The proof of the conspiracy, its founders, its movers, its principle players, its history, everything, has been set down, documented perfectly well for a hundred years now and more. I couldn't possibly aspire to beating that job already done. And so, just as always, I'll restrict myself to saying what none of the others have yet said.

That is the EFFECT that this rule by conspiracy has had upon this host population, the Whites. And certainly not only of the United States but of every White nation in the world as this most certainly is a world-wide phenomenon.

I'm not going to recite any anecdotal material concerning conspiracy but I am going to examine the body of it all. Those anecdotes are everywhere, all around you, ranging from the ridiculous tabloids to the more respectable "historic" television channels. Hollywood has dedicated feature films to the subject. And, yes, someone even sent me a video documentary dealing with "The Jewish Conspiracy".

Well, a number of things - implications - arise at this point. First we must differentiate between - recognize - mainstream and underground sources. These concepts are quite real. (And why should there be need of any "underground" in a supposedly free and open society, with its vaunted Constitution, its First Amendment, etc.?) Wouldn't a hidden conspiracy be considered as an "underground"? Not if it's running the show, calling the shots. A tiny band of people trying to scream the truth at the top of their lungs, only to be drown out by the enormous media, would be a more apt illustration.

Concepts to be carefully considered include common terms carelessly tossed around. Terms like underground and outlaw. An outlaw, in the strictest sense, is not a law-breaker. He is one who is not represented, not protected by the law. Right here it should become plain that it is not necessary for me to launch into familiar, tired and endless anecdotes dealing with just how CROOKED the law is. People everywhere get this notion but they don't realize the half of it.

All of this common knowledge about the existence of "conspiracies" (and note the plural) comes mainly from the media. I should say EXCLUSIVELY from the media for what other source is there apart from any underground? And it is called "underground" because it has been so deeply "buried" that it is practically unknown, unheard of and non-existent. So a quick study of media techniques is worthwhile at this point.

I've actually seen some incredible television documentaries on things ranging from the attack on Pearl Harbor to the assassination of John Kennedy to the nefarious goings on within the Masonic Lodge, etc. These have gone so far as to expose that, for example, the government knew in advance of the attack on Pearl Harbor and kept quiet, letting it happen to our service men; that Kennedy was set up to be murdered by the government with Lyndon Johnson as the ring master; and that the Masonic Lodge, its "Skull and Bones", etc., basically includes too many of "our" top politicians.

All of it true. But even these shattering revelations amount to no more than anecdotes in themselves. Those bits of truth are out and still nothing changes. Part of my main point, perhaps. Had they been known AT THE TIME then a difference might have been made. But no. Pearl Harbor was a "sneak attack", Kennedy was killed by a "lone gunman", and "our" politicians are merely corrupt bastards seeking to enrich themselves by forming these "cliques". (But imagine a people actually putting up with that!)

Where lying and corruption are accepted as the norm, it represents a positive guarantee that the REAL RULERS are unseen and unknown. The politicians are no more than MINIONS and these sham elections nothing more than SHELL GAMES.

And all of this fabulous, glamorous spotlight upon conspiracies by the media? Surely that would indicate that things basically are "right", that the "proper people" are on guard and vigilant and that the general population is "well informed". Remember that we are not regarding "Ma and Pa Kettle" here. No. It is "Ma" and "Pa" who are taking the shaft. We are regarding the master manipulators of all time.

A real and unconscionable liar can be known by his perfect willingness to take the truth and deliberately distort and misrepresent it for purposes of his own. In other words, by this kind of action you can be sure there has been no "mistake", no "difference of opinion" but a straightforward attempt at deception.

So why even toy with the truth in this manner? Why not just leave it dead and buried exactly as it was? Well, there is that tiny underground and not everyone is stone stupid. To let off some potentially dangerous steam and, at the same time, to continue to mislead, to lie. Because a partial truth is a partial lie. I believe the word is to "neutralize".

To further illustrate this point, I'll dissect the three examples I began with. The media didn't go into the implications of WHY the Pearl Harbor set-up; WHY the grandstand hit upon Kennedy; WHAT'S really behind the Masonic Lodge. Furthermore, they present cases like these as being completely SEPARATE - which they certainly are not - and despite the incredible amount of exposure and detail, they take you right up to the critical threshold... where they drop you.

In fact, some of these things have been more breathtaking than many of the best works from among underground authors and presses. Certainly, who can rival Hollywood for image-making, whether true or false? It is so very important to bear in mind that this all-powerful business of IMAGE-MAKING is strictly in the hands of the conspiracy. They can manipulate the EMOTIONS which, in most of the population, will always override the intellect.

Terrific background, I thought, but missing the punch line, the key to make it all snap together and form a picture that can be of some real instruction. The underground has it and has always relied upon it. Which is why it became and remains the underground. That key, that word is Jews. And not just Jews but their plan, their agenda. For surely, they are not in this for the hell of it, not merely to get super-rich, not merely to control but all of it for a purpose. We'll identify that purpose and examine its RESULTS for the rest of us the way they have developed over the past century.

Of course there was that one remarkable video a friend sent me basically entitled, "The Jewish Conspiracy", which, though far from anything you'd ever see on network television, still has to qualify as mainstream media. I say this because - at least in theory - anyone can produce anything if they so choose. The trick consistently overlooked by most people is DISTRIBUTION. If you can't get it out there, well, you get the idea.

So how did a thing with a title like "The Jewish Conspiracy" get out there in front of the public? If I had done it, for example, no way in hell. But this thing was done by Jews. Your typical, average New York Jew who apparently wanted to get to the bottom of this lingering accusation against the Jews and see whether it had any real foundation. Even I at times thought that this man and his son might somehow be really low-level Jews and not clued in on the nature of the conspiracy, so "dumb" was their approach. But here and there was that truth that was being twisted - if only for a split second at critical times - which gave them away. They knew what they were doing.

The average person, upon viewing this, would simply dismiss the whole thing as viciousness, ignorance and bigotry and would go on their way remaining in this thought. A truly textbook example of neutralizing.

But I've noticed in recent years that they actually do a lot of telling on themselves, casually and matter-of-factly, in the media, which, if I haven't yet made it plain, is THEIR MEDIA. Off-hand remarks and confessions which, if let out, say, at the time of Senator McCarthy for example, would have brought about a national storm against them. Here we have an example of that RESULT of a century of rule by conspiracy. Confidence on their part and no reaction on the part of their host population. And the word to be applied here is CONDITIONING.

So we get down closer to the nuts and bolts of conspiracy. Of course I came out of the public education system, I was of the mass-media-mind as a young person and I fully am aware of how the Jews and their background - their presence among us - was and still is generally perceived.

Basically a different religious sect and, at that, one to whom we owe Christianity and our own Jesus Christ even. Sure, they may look a little bit different but so what? They're very smart which is why they seem to gravitate into the professions, etc., and are able to amass fortunes for themselves. They're very talented which is why the field of entertainment is so full of them.

Other people - primarily our own White race - have been very jealous and resentful of their great success and have, from time to time, chosen to take out their anger, frustration and failings on them as "scapegoats" in pogroms and persecutions. Hitler's so-called "Holocaust" being the best and most recent example of this.

The old business of the Jewish "Shylock", of greed and avarice notwithstanding, the culture says much the same about the Scots and their inherent thriftiness. The somewhat well known matter of the Jewish "nose-job" and "name-change" could be written off as their attempt to better assimilate into the population and to better escape more of that same, old hate and prejudice that our people are renowned for.

Or it might all have another explanation.

They are here. Their community holds while Whites essentially have no community left to speak of. The thrust of my last book was the total demise of White unity and awareness. And somewhere in the pages of that book I briefly mentioned that, as a kid in school in southern Ohio, one knew that if he had occasion to clash with a Black, he'd be clashing with all of them. Not so with Whites. And that was fifty years ago. Something - whatever it was - had already happened by then. And fifty years later? And fifty years hence? That is the thrust of this book.

Community feeling, even the natural attraction for one's own kind equivalent to hate and prejudice? Without any question. At least insofar as WE are concerned. Back to the earlier question of how such a thing as this could have developed. Back also to the term CONDITIONING. In the opening volume of this continuing series I pointed out that humans are really no different from other animals where the dynamics of conditioning are concerned. The only thing really required is control over stimuli.

Most people with any degree of awareness at all will know how deeply Jews are involved in media. But they won't realize that for as long as anyone now alive goes, all media has been their exclusive domain. Media and distribution, that is. It began a century ago as a Priority One financial monopoly and today, as a result, most others involved in the media - for actual Jews do only represent a small minority - are basically unable to think any way other than the Jewish way.

Back in the old "Cold War" days, we heard the term "brainwash" quite often. It's very real and is but a corruption of actual conditioning. Well, who's in the position to affect a thing like this for not only the American people but, as of the close of the Second World War, every White nation on earth? That much figured out, what does this conditioning have as its purpose? If you can recall back fifty years and the way things were then and compare them to the way things are now, you'll know the answer. If you could remember a century ago, then you'd really have the picture.

RESULTS are all that matter.

IV

Now perhaps a pattern emerges. At the same time a person might begin to further question just what does constitute real criminality. The "Catch 22" to the thrust of this book involves whether or not the average person might view what has been done to White society all over the globe as indeed criminal. For if all of this decades-long mind-bending has done its work properly, then the average person will see its progression as only the bright triumph of "peace, love and brotherhood" even while their society and their very lives turn further into shit.

It's clearly not any good for them. So what IS it good for? The furtherance of an agenda so alien to their own psyches - or souls - that it is incomprehensible to them.

This is what's going on. This is what has happened. This is who's responsible.

Now the need for conspiracy emerges. No accident. You don't require a cover-up in advance for an accident. This is malice aforethought.

There are just certain basic, common-sense elements to the workings of conspiracy. If you are an alien minority in the midst of a much larger host population and especially if that host has a cultural memory of "Christ killer", as an example, that's one thing. But if you are that same alien minority and have also a racial-cultural imperative AGAINST your host, then you really must think and operate conspiratorially.

Of course one way of destroying a people is by first fouling and polluting its culture in the name of "modern art", etc. Jews have always led in this and one prominent "Surrealist" painter - "Man Ray" - once commented to an associate that if "they" (meaning the masses of Whites) ever once figured out what their real purpose was, they'd be lynched. Again, conscious deception and malice aforethought. The need for conspiracy.

The story of Maurice Ravel at the premier of his "Bolero" as the audience sat like zombies throughout all the tedium until one woman jumped up and shouted, "This is insanity!" Whereupon Ravel turned to his companion and commented, "That one. She understands!"

So you would quite naturally keep your intentions and your plans secret from the host population because you know they would not approve of them. (But you don't care.) Whatever it is, it must be slipped over on them, without their knowledge. One serious breach of this secrecy and they might - while they still possess something left of themselves - rise up against you. You know better than anyone that it has happened before, elsewhere in the past.

We see what society has become. A hellish damnation. Unless, of course, you are again one of those victims who, as Hitler said, sits by the side of a corpse and in the symptoms of decay sees only signs of "new" life. This illustration helps us decide the answer to the critical question of whether these people actually think theirs is a better plan, a better ideal for humanity - specifically Whites - and must implement it right over their heads or whether they are acting directly to the detriment of the host people, knowingly.

More physical dynamics. There never was nor could there ever be any such thing as a BENEVOLENT conspiracy. The mere mention, the mere whiff of conspiracy means directly that a criminal undertaking is afoot.

And it does seem most clear that the real purpose of lies and conspiracies, especially in the affairs of peoples and nations, is to conceal the truth of the matter until it has become too late for the target people to react appropriately and do anything about it. In other words, they do not intend to give you a fair chance.

As ever, there are large and scholarly works available (via that same underground press I mentioned) which positively make the scientific case for critical differences between races. Note that I do not say "racial supremacy" much less "Master Race". I say instead DIFFERENCES. For what does it matter what a Bantu may occupy himself with in central Africa or a Mongol in central Asia, etc.? It probably matters to them but hardly to us.

Again, I can't and won't attempt to lay out all the academic evidence as it has already been done. Beyond that, it should not be necessary for anyone with even a trace element of awareness remaining. But, once more, there's that old "Catch 22" which has it that too many - most - have had this most basic of instincts erased from them. So let's go with something else instead.

All of the races of man, separated on their respective continents where they had originally developed in isolation, together with their languages and cultures, were no real problem to each other. Then came migration and even empires which brought them into contact. Such things as trade, conquest and certainly slavery added to this. But the deadliest form of this interaction came with assimilation. That is, when those of alien race were admitted into the common society and accepted as citizens.

This is the main and certainly the FINAL cause of the fall of great civilizations, always and without exception. The reason being that the resultant race-mixing - miscegenation - effectively wiped out the White backbone of the society itself. From this there is never any coming back.

The Roman Empire went this way. The United States is fast going this way. Rome of course died by stages - went rotten from the inside, out. The United States is well along in this same process. The actual collapse came to Rome when the infrastructure of the society itself, the FRAMEWORK gave way completely and chaos took over. When there weren't enough Whites of the old, Roman stock left to support and hold the mess together, it gave way and fell apart.

Events in the news from all around various points in the so-called "Third World" (read actually COLORED world) will invariably reveal that these places exist in a perpetual state of exactly this kind of chaos. At times there might exist a bloodthirsty dictatorship which will be able to hold things in line by terror and by force. But the moment these are overthrown, the rule of the jungle returns immediately.

Modern Italy only arose after invading White "barbarian" tribes moved in from the north, drove the genetic mess left over from fallen Rome far south, and literally created a whole, new state. But probably the best example of all is that of Germany: Levelled out by vicious air attacks during the Second World War, it bounced quickly back again to return as one of the premier states in the entire world in every respect. Exactly as Hitler wrote in Mein Kampf, "Men do not go to ruin through lost wars but only through the loss of the purity of their blood."

These things are indisputable.

So for common purposes, we will stick to the term: FRAMEWORK. And it seems clear that only Whites can produce this sort of thing. Orientals less and Blacks hardly at all. And I feel confident that nobody but nobody wants to be caught up in a Third World kind of setting. Hell, even the Third Worlders themselves are trying to escape it. Here's another "Catch 22": When a place is overrun by Third Worlders - guess what! It has become itself part of the Third World!

So the liars and the fools point to anything and everything from some Black who can read and write and stay within the boundaries of the law to a U.S. President and claim THAT as their "proof" of so-called "racial equality", providing the green light for all of us to mix ourselves straight out of existence. But these idiots are overlooking the concept of a White FRAMEWORK.

What would any of these Blacks be doing smack in the middle of Africa, in their own land, among their own people? And even if one were to become "President" of some African "republic", what would it amount to?

No. It is the ASSIMILATION of Blacks - and any coloreds - into WHITE culture and society that gives them any degree, any semblance, of civilization at all. Only within this White framework do they appear to be viable. The further removed from it they become, the more they can be seen as what they are. Left to themselves, they are NOTHING.

This kind of a "free ride" within White societies might arguably be great for them and the purveyors of lies and deceit. But it represents the opening stages of the destruction of White civilization. Then what does anyone have? After the fall of Rome, Europe had to go through the Dark Ages before strong civilization was able to reassert itself with the Renaissance.

The crucial difference between all other ages and the present is that these rises and falls were localized and there was always fresh, unpolluted White blood to fill the gap and create a new beginning. This not to mention pristine frontiers to repair to. Today everything is truly globalized and it is a mistake to look at separate, White states. They are ALL under attack, simultaneously, by alien rule at the top and colored pollution all across the bottom.

There simply is no issue apart from this.

If there is criteria for concerning yourself with any matter, then that criteria has got to be RELEVANCY. And that which is most primary has got to be the most relevant.

I think I've established that case.

VI

We just had a look at THE lesson of history. There really is no other. The lying, deceiving and perhaps even delusional conspirators and media manipulators seem to enjoy nothing better than to quote this one and always when applying it to the Third Reich and Adolf Hitler: "Those who ignore the lessons of history are doomed to repeat them." How absolutely correct! But how grossly and cynically misapplied!!

Germany under Hitler and the Third Reich SAW the lessons of history, acted upon them and REVERSED the trend to destruction. Tragic that the remainder of the civilized world remained under the decisive spell of alien influence and went to war to snuff out this great revival. And you can bet that they saw this at the time, knew it and pursued that course with a bloodthirstiness known only to a conspirator out to get someone who had spoiled his machinations.

Here once more, we're obviously regarding Jews.

The "magic" 3%. Three percent or thereabouts of the total population which monopolizes most of the wealth and calls all of the important shots. No longer the natural elite but this same band of conspirators. Whether in the former Soviet Union, the United States at present or in what was known as "Weimar" Germany following the First World War, it was these same Jews. They don't much bother to deny it and it's basically there in any decent library for any who know how to read... or care to.

The extreme violence of the Bolshevik regime in Russia, the extreme perversion of the Weimar regime in Germany, etc., was due entirely to the almost TOTAL control suddenly exercised by this minority of Jews over the majority. One doubts that such a thing as this could be. One Chinese lady I once knew - the daughter of one of Chaing Kai-Shek's generals - once remarked of the Japanese conquest of China, "How could a country like like think they could take China?"

My answer to her was simple if not pleasing. "The Japanese had it together while the Chinese did not."

And even with a mere three percent of the population, the task is guaranteed so long as that three percent has its stuff together while the other ninety-seven percent is floundering around in a confused daze of so-called "democracy".

It's been slow over here. They've been essentially calling the important shots, been in charge of the sensitive and critical positions, virtually owned the media at least since the dawn of the Twentieth Century. They've managed to provoke two world wars plus finance and engineer the Bolshevik Revolution from right here. Their steady effect upon the morale of the population has been a negative one throughout. But there never really has been any "grandstanding" like the outrages seen elsewhere in the world.

Why not?

Because they HAVE learned one lesson of history: Push too hard, too suddenly and you risk a backlash that could destroy you. In other words, don't let yourself be SEEN by the population as the unquestionable source of their trouble. Because then they might be able to act. Keep it slow and gradual until there is no will left in them to resist or to fight.

My friend and mentor, Dr. William Pierce, was careful to stress that, in times past, these conspirators relied first upon their own cohesion and second upon their gold to wield alien control over a population simply by "buying" the rulers. But a population left generally intact morally, intellectually, spiritually and - above all - RACIALLY represents the potential of a ticking time-bomb. They MIGHT free themselves.

But Dr. Pierce was quick to add that a new THIRD element had been added as of the twentieth century: Media monopoly. From merely swaying popular opinion in order to get them to go to wars that did not concern them or to retain some demagogue politician in office to their own basic detriment... Now instead to forming their entire thought and taste patterns.

I've said before that a vital people who knows where it's going isn't much of a target for this sort of thing. But when things slacken and the "self" begins to take over, then in move the opportunists and conspirators for a "free lunch". We may look back and think how grand and wonderful those pre-World War One societies were but the fact is that they were ripe for collapse. And collapse they did with the shock of the War and the sudden, even daring move of the Jewish gangs. A mere two hundred, for example, unseated the King of Bavaria.

White framework versus White society, White community. Whites, due to their nature, will go to work, will produce, will maintain order and infrastructure.

They've always done it. But now they're doing it for a general population that is half non-White. This is an act of national suicide. They are bringing on the Third World right here. Really however, they are acting in this way only for their own, private indulgence, the chase for the presumed "dream" or "ideal" of material wealth. This is a familiar Jewish idea. But the Jews keep their cohesion while the Whites have lost theirs.

Tradition is co-equal to genetics. White traditions are about gone and White genetics are in direct jeopardy as a result. There never was such a thing as a "generation gap" prior to the twentieth century, not, at least, in Western Christian civilization. The trend upward was unbroken for a thousand years. Then direction was lost and it was the moment of the alien conspirators. Their command of the mass, electronic media caused this phenomenon to occur and practically play itself out all in the course of a single human lifetime.

The reduction of the very glue which bound the society - in the absence of any codified racial awareness - proceeded apace. It was "fun", it was "progress", it was "freedom". Of course, youth were the most vulnerable while the adults hadn't a moral leg to stand on. The trend? Each succeeding generation had a little less of value to pass along to the next. Instead, the children were being raised in some common hog-tough of Jewish-inspired trash and insanity.

As a result, White society has gone to hell. They suffer in it even while they can't put their finger on it. They no longer have the capacity to do so. Every move they might make or every conclusion they might reach is invariably the WRONG one. They want more of the same crap and nonsense that brought their culture to this pass in the first place. And, to be sure, to try and tell them the facts and the reality of the situation will get you branded a "Fascist" or a "Nazi".

As Saint Paul remarked, "Therefore I become your enemy because I tell you the truth?" But that was in Classical civilization and we all know how that wound up. Repeating the lessons - or lesson - of history, indeed!

VII

Even in the mainstream media one can learn of the tremendously huge and violent riots carried out by Whites against Blacks in the North and the South of about a century ago. Some colored type would invade a White beach area or the like, either by accident or by design, and all hell would break loose. These occurrences would rival or exceed the colored riots of the Sixties in death and destruction. Where are they now?

Most have at least heard of the great Ku Klux Klan revival of the 1920s. Indiana, a Northern state, was the heaviest of Klan country. Colorado was a Klan state. They say Presidents and U.S. Justices, etc., were Klan members. The Klan could fill Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington, D.C., with a massive march of hoods and robes. It was a mighty and respected fraternal, White organization. Where is it now?

One of the planks in the KKK platform was immigration. And they were upset over immigration from eastern and southern Europe, claiming that too many of these types then flooding into the country were simply "morons". It was a time of sterilization for those whose multiplication wasn't beneficial for the nation. Those not in their right minds and leaning toward miscegenation, homosexuality, etc., were banned, outlawed and driven way underground. The same for the degeneracy of drug use. It belonged to the Third World.

As a young person I can clearly recall the atmosphere I grew up in. One doesn't much even hear the word "disgrace" anymore. There were a number of cardinal disgraces within the society I came up in. Among these was cohabitation outside of marriage, having offspring outside of marriage, a man brutalizing or not providing for his family, a woman with multiple and frequent sex partners, children and youths rebelling against their parents, etc. But at the very top of this list were miscegenation and homosexuality.

There were "bums". Not the "homeless" but BUMS. There were drunks. Not victims of "alcoholism" but DRUNKS. We didn't see very much of this in my home town in southern Ohio. I can remember one poor beggar - a blind man - who'd sit in doorways in the downtown and play his accordion. The remembrance of him even today tears at my heart. He was almost a fearful sight with his dead eyes all ascance. Today where I am we see armies of drunken bums on street corners, bus stops, everywhere, with their cardboard signs, etc., and accosting anyone for money.

Where in hell did they all come from? To say to them, "Get a job.", is to miss the point. They are unemployable. In National Socialist Germany there was an entire classification within the network of KZ Lagers - or Concentration Camps - for the "Asocial". Not anti-social, just asocial. For their own good but more for the good of the community, they were removed to these locations, provided everything needed for a decent, humane existence, and they were required to PRODUCE something in return.

And, yes, the race-mixers, homosexuals and drug-users each had their own sections within these camps. One homosexual hangout here in Denver calls itself "The Triangle" after the pink triangles they were required to wear on their camp uniforms. Everybody in the twentieth century had their concentration camps. In the Soviet Union they were the "gulags", over here they were in the Rocky Mountains for the Japanese-Americans, but it was the British who invented the idea in South Africa during the Boer War of 1900.

"Rights" be damned. If there is to be a nation, there has got to be a national WILL. And this means the will and determination to cut out that which is anti-national. Anything which harms the good of the nation must be extracted, isolated and eventually done away with. Or else the nation itself will finally succumb.

Also as I was growing up, I was seeing all of this change, weaken, loosen. Simultaneously, I saw the direct results of it among the society. And I hated it. So if this makes me a "hater", then so be it. But I shall always maintain that hate - or anything else for that matter - is a good thing if only it be PROPERLY DIRECTED. Today, of course, the only thing they are taught to "hate" is a virtually non-existent "Klan", etc. So you begin to see the nature and the extent of the turn-around.

These things I saw and can remember. I was not fooled or deluded. A hell of a lot of others experienced the same thing. Where are they? Blending in, of course. Here is a quick lesson not only in Fanaticism 101 but in exactly how formerly great cultures and societies can go rapidly into the trash heap. I discussed basic human nature in my previous book and, as we saw at that time, it ain't pretty.

Too many Movement members cringe whenever I invoke the Bible. But we were all saying these very same things well before most of us - myself included - ever suspected that they had been clearly outlined in the Bible thousands of years ago. "Do this or you'll die." Well, of course, those respective civilizations were built upon those principles, then came to neglect them, and then they died. This one is dying now.

VIII

It was very little time before I lost patience with the traditional Movement. The slogan of one of those professional fakers as to why no headway could be made toward building a successful Movement to DO SOMETHING about the situation was this: "We are revolutionaries in pre-revolutionary times." Really clear thinking is not an automatic gift. And practically none at the age of eighteen or twenty have it. Indeed, most never acquire it. So for me then, that would have to do.

"When things got bad enough..."

Well, things have gotten far worse than any one of us would have dared to project at the time. The one, determining thing, however, that no one then - as of the Sixties - could have conceived of was the framework of it holding together. And with that framework, the alien media and all of its untold psychological damage to the psyche of the nation. Time has taken care of the rest.

One must remember that it was a raging housefire of economic conditions which allowed the respective Fascist movements of Europe to rise to national power. Here it is relatively slow motion.

People will "cope" as long as they are able so long as they remain basically comfortable. And the manipulators know this the best.

And as much as I liked and admired Dr. William Pierce - and as honest and forthright as I knew him to be - it was his very own re-writing of the Party program about 1968 or 1969 that began to put into focus for me what the real problem was. He had authored about ten magnificent points for this revised NSWPP program which no idealistic person could have found any fault with. The problem was hidden out in the open.

I caught part of it fairly quickly. Each of the ten points began like this, "We must..." Yes, I thought to myself then, we truly MUST. But, going on the long-established track record thus far and the curve indicator which was anything but encouraging, if it's a question of "we must" then you can know right away that it AIN'T GONNA HAPPEN!

Only many years later did it occur to me that "must" never was the operative word. The operative word here is "WE".

The primary result of a century of hidden, alien influence - of MISGUIDANCE - has been that there no longer is a "WE". So "we" can't do anything because there is no "we". From "when it gets bad enough" to "what's wrong with these people?"

I'm notorious among my own circle for hating all manner of sports. I must recount here just as I do for the local uninitiated the story of Anton LaVey and his "National Asshole Test". It was about 1968 and the same period as Walter Chronkite did his nationally televised

"National Drivers Test". You could participate in the program and rate yourself as a driver at the end. Likewise with LaVey's test which had at the end a number of tie-breaking questions. One of these was, "Are you a professional sports fan?" If so, you can be certain that you're an asshole.

But it's "we" this and "we" that for these sports types. Unlike the teams of a century ago, these "franchises" aren't even local but are literally recruited from around the world. And a large proportion of them aren't even White. They don't give a DAMN about the fans but are only there to make obscene fortunes. I chide these fans when they shout that "we" won or "we" lost the big game. "You mean to say that you actually own stock in that company?" But as for me, my life - and everything else for that matter - remains unchanged.

For myself, I've become disciplined to not using the word "we". "We shouldn't have gone to Iraq." "We ought to do something about all this colored immigration." Well, of course, it never was an issue of "we" in the first place. It is THEY and THEM, not us.

The new concept of "we". Deceptive, artificial, meaningless. (Oh. And the women and their Soap Operas. That's another story. After all, "One Life To Live".)

Not wanting to write one more tome, how does this occur?

"In the beginning was the Word." Order from out of chaos. An Interventionist proposal, to be sure. But as I discussed in the first book of this series, the experiment somehow jumped the track. Revolt in heaven, revolt on earth. There are these people known as Jews. A very tight reading of the Bible will tell one that it was the beings thrown out of heaven who descended to earth and took up mortal form. Jesus Christ and his followers were sent after them in hot pursuit. Satan's master plan to spoil and ruin God's creation - the White race - was foiled... temporarily.

A thousand years of darkness following the collapse of rotten Classical civilization and then a thousand glorious years of Western, Christian civilization. Whites to themselves in Europe with the Jews mainly expelled or held as a strict underclass. And then with the general liberalization, Satan escaped from his prison, the Bottomless Pit (or the Pale of Settlement in western Russia and Poland.)

Liberalization in thought combined now with the physical presence once more with a hostile, parasitic alien race. They might "convert" to Christianity, change their names or even their looks but their blood remains the same. And with this remains their thought processes and their very worldview. One might even let it go at that as an explanation for their actions except for one thing: Every bit of this drama was recorded and prophesized in the Bible from beginning to end.

The Lie introduces itself as something else, always. Satan - the Adversary - had first been known as Lucifer - the Bringer of Light. And that is precisely how the Lie enters the picture, just as we studied in the previous book, "Tyranny of Freedom". The liberalized, relaxed, off-guard people - together with their natural rulers - actually begin to listen to and be mesmerized by these siren songs of "Utopia".

Again, democracy equals mass confusion. The alien organism moves in with the gold of the world and buys the rulers, exactly as in ages past. But then to seize the media and the education system, he seeks to put the seal of permanency to his invasion. The old flim-flam of "The Emperor's New Clothes" applies directly here. The miserable sell-out, Churchill, who knew it best also said it best with, "There's no such thing as 'public opinion', only 'PUBLISHED opinion.'"

The enemy goes for the head and the heart. A conspiracy comprised of a tiny minority can operate in no other way.

Fascinating that it can even co-opt other conspiracies and bend them to its own use. Commander George Lincoln Rockwell was so straight-up in his take of what needed to be done in this country to try to save it before it was forever too late, i.e., acting in an open and forthright White manner in the face of sneaks, that he never once made mention of the Masonic Lodges.

In short, these go back - apparently - to ancient Egypt, ancient Israel, the very foundations of Western civilization, the Knights Templar and even the foundation of the United States. In all of this it was a good and even a great thing. Not genuinely a "conspiracy" but rather a brotherhood of initiates. Deeply entrenched, already well-established within White culture. Take a thing like that over and you're already halfway home. A "Puritanical" mistake on the identity and role of the Jews allowed this very thing to happen.

Of course the Democratic and Republican parties are a somewhat looser example but they still represent powerful tools all set and ready to be taken over and used by a hard core of burrowing aliens bent on control.

Business cartels, etc., have always been their specialty. They are renowned for their business acumen not their work on the frontiers or in the fields, etc. And in this they give themselves away once more as parasites. On the one hand, they look out for one another. On the other hand, they together freeze out their competition. In short order they can make it downright "unprofitable" to be any way other than their way.

Always sticking together, always aware of its hardcore purpose, it takes over more and more. Its White host is unaware of this more nefarious aspect of its presence and, in any case, is riven by its own divisions and far too susceptible to bribery. As ever, by the time anyone begins to suspect the danger, it's already too late. So it was for the United States even by 1900.

President Calvin Coolidge during the late Twenties voiced approximately the same racial theories as I have done here. He was also the one who said, "The business of America is business." No. The true business of America was to help advance and safeguard Western civilization as an extension of Europe. But it had been one of his predecessors, Woodrow Wilson, who was considered not only Bolshevik-influenced but, under the influence of Mandel House, took this country into war against Germany thus altering forever its proper function in the history of the race. (But even Wilson was reported to have said of "The Birth of a Nation", "It's like writing history with lightning.") The trend was only to get worse.

Most will at least be aware that there exists in the Old Testament the Books of Kings. Most will have no idea what they contain, however. Simply a quick run-down of the lives and deeds of all of the kings of Israel and of Judah after the tribes had split following the death of Solomon. During my researches of the Bible, I made a tally of these lives and found that approximately three-fourths of these individuals were rated as no damned good even by the Old Testament chroniclers.

Mostly they were mixed up with racially Jewish women and "doing evil in the sight of the Lord." Sort of like Clinton and Monica Lewinski. The Books of the Prophets, which follow, relate how the twin countries rotted from within and finally were displaced in their own, former land by racial aliens. It was into this grossly debased setting that Christ came to turn the tables. But in a way hardly anyone, then or now, suspected.

Well, of course, we today are busy writing the new prophecies. A new "Book of Presidents" might be divided thusly: From Washington to Lincoln, the Great Era; From Johnson to Taft, a time of more or less competent caretakers; With Wilson and on through Roosevelt especially we see naked attacks upon our very own Western, Christian civilization; Truman through Nixon we see conscious treason of the most base, sell-out variety; Ford through Bush... mere minions and dupes. And then a Black.

Interesting to take note that the end of one type of individual to occupy the White House - Nixon - was the last one to really know what he was doing but went ahead and did it anyway. But the Jews still hated and distrusted him enough to "crucify" him before his very own "Silent Majority" (now minority) in their media. Of course it was Jews Woodward and Bernstein who started this ball rolling but it has since come out that their secret source, "Deep Throat", was one more Jew within the FBI.

But surely, as the Presidency goes, so goes the rest of the national institutions. Once real truth and purpose are edged out of national life by "business-as-usual", guess what, genuine nationalism is outside looking in. It's not decisive any longer unless, as with Pearl Harbor, it can be used to whip an unsuspecting populace into going to war to further the secret interests of the conspiracy (or to Iraq, for that matter.) The very culture begins to stink even as the White population decreases in proportion to all the rest.

If a thing isn't on its way up, you can be certain it's on its way down. There is no such thing as standing still. As with anything else, there are rings to this phenomenon: The small, inner circle of hard-core nationalism graduating out to the furthest, widest shade of so-called "patriotism". With no real incentive and with all signs and stimulus pointing in the opposite direction, even this can be expected to diminish with time and demographics.

IX

So it really isn't, then, much of a wonder why, in the case of the Klan, it could go from a guerrilla force of a defeated Confederate Army which literally saved White, Southern society to a powerful fraternal organization encompassing the whole country and then to a dwindling, scattered, fractured "fringe" group beginning in the Forties and on this way, smaller and smaller, throughout the remainder of the twentieth century. Identically the same for the German-American Bund and the American Nazi Party, etc.

No. The people didn't become "smarter".

They had the natural vitality driven out of them gradually.

Exactly as Hitler would have observed, these groups didn't exist, were never intended as ends in themselves. Nothing for the "hell" of it. It would have been an easy bet in favor of the monstrous apparatus in place over the nation and its elite along with the institutions against the chances of the disenfranchised, dispossessed Hard Right. The deck all stacked in favor of the house, with time on its side and with human nature being what it is. Should you fail to see a malady for what it is, or should you reject, despise or ignore those with the warning, then, as Pastor Robert Miles said, fewer and fewer are going to risk themselves in trying to tell you anything.

Nothing can be done minus organization. And organization directly implies "WE". When there was yet a "we" to be discussed, we were there for them. But they weren't even there for themselves. The final two decades of the twentieth century saw a "banzai" charge on the part of Movement fanatics against the aptly dubbed Zionist Occupation Government but with no response on the part of the people. They'll certainly inherit what they deserve. For those heroes, however, I'm equally certain they are at the right hand of God even now.

A position of indignity is perhaps the nicest thing that can be said for Truth trying to buck the Lie which, itself, has gained the stature of power and authority. Reacting truthfully, righteously to entrenched liars and murderers - as Christ called them - who have draped themselves with the purple robes of authority seems only to have the consequence of rendering one - in the eyes of the populace - "ridiculous", "paranoid" or full of "hate". And if anyone today would attempt it the way Christ did then, he surely would be "crucified" as well.

X

The old, "I Told You So", really isn't worth much of a damn. For that is precisely what most of the prophets of the Old Testament were saying as they penned their manuscripts - situated as they were at the time in Assyrian or Babylonian concentration camps with the rest of the boobs who wouldn't listen. But, more accurately, they were saying to future generations, "Don't let this happen to you!"

How the Truth gets lost! I was positively amazed when I read of one Israelite revival which came about when a copy of the Books of Moses was accidentally found buried somewhere within the Temple Mount. They had literally been WITHOUT the Law for a period of generations! About the only "law" these people today are left with are those pertaining to property and business rights.

But having the Law is no good if you don't read it. And reading it is no good if you don't understand it.

Going into it as I did - as a person in his mid-forties - with his receptors fully up for the racial, the anti-Jewish and even the extraterrestrial aspects of it, and the MEANING of it all literally jumped off the pages at me.

A neutral setting. That is what the Lie moves in on, invariably. White "prejudices"? Rather think of them as lingering racial memories, even mechanisms of defence. No good is it to judge the "good" stranger from the "bad" stranger. For the only real stranger is the racial stranger. And the Bible admonishes NEVER have dealings whatever with strangers, NEVER place them in power over you, and NEVER give or take with them in marriage. Never take their gods. This means the abomination of culture and belief.

"Don't mark your bodies." Or basically do anything else to defile the Temple of the Holy Spirit. And I've defined this "Holy Spirit" as whatever evolutionary or God-given spark it is which makes Whites the ONLY bringers of high civilization. When I was a kid, about the only place to see piercings, tattoos, etc., was either in the freak side-shows of the circus or in "National Geographic". Look at it now.

An optimist might call this particular phenomenon "neo-pagan". For after the Tribes of Israel had freed themselves from alien captivity, most of them, the vast bulk of ten million persons, chose not to return to Palestine but to move on instead into a new life. They, as prophesized, literally FORGOT themselves, their identity, and the old Law and became pagans. They were wont to extensively tattoo themselves. Once they had settled in their new homes - the modern states of Europe - and had Christianized, this practice ceased once again.

The critical difference, however, was that those "Lost Tribes" were clinging together as they migrated and they had separated themselves from non-Whites and all non-White influences. Even as Saint Paul commented of the "gentiles" of his time, acting as Whites the way they were in northern Europe, even without the old Law, they were a law unto themselves. But there, again, is that neutral setting for aliens, liars and conspirators to move in on.

Their guile, their money. Our trusting credulity. Our just wanting to "be". Their compulsion to invade, infiltrate and control. Driven force versus inertia. Minus an equally forceful counter-movement on the part of the host people and the eventual success of the determined invader is assured. Hitler said this much.

Commander Rockwell used the comparison with the horse and its leader. If the horse could somehow realize the true position of things, it could easily trample and kill the person leading it about. The Jews realize this better than anyone else. As a pseudo "race" of people they plainly exhibit all the signs of clinical paranoia. But the horse and leader thing is still quite real and valid. As such, they are keenly and even over-tuned to any hint, any whiff of genuine opposition... real or imagined.

I've written in the past that they, together with their world outlook, are essentially COMMUNIST. And all of the classic studies of international Communism, particularly those from the Fifties, are quick to point out that, to a trained and dedicated Communist, any sign of conscious and determined OPPOSITION is, by definition, either FASCIST or NAZI but, at the very least, this is how it must be perceived and handled.

This is what World War Two was all about. Jewish "scholars" and "historians", when writing about World War Two, sometimes slip and make the statement that Hitler, the "Ugly Duckling", was the one thing of the twentieth century that WASN'T SUPPOSED TO HAPPEN. Supposed to happen according to them, of course. In an honest and neutral setting, nothing is "supposed" to happen. So not only does this make Hitler "The Man of the Century", it effectively makes of him the man of the rest of time as well.

The new Savior.

Remember that it required fully a thousand years before Christ's "Thousand Years" could come into being following his death. And those "Thousand Years of Christ" came to an official close in 1945. Since then, according to Saint John in Revelation, it has been "Satan's Little Season". And wouldn't the state of things generally reflect this perfectly? But the direct implication is that this "little" period is indeed finite and not the general end of things but only an end of itself. That's MORE than optimism.

But to an intelligent and aware observer, it isn't necessary one bit to have to wait until everyone is gathered together in one, big "Guantanamo" to see and even visit the ultimate and inevitable outcome of this kind of prolonged, alien, Jewish domination. The living, physical, mortal "I Told You So"s are out there in what is now generally referred to as the "Third World". The mysterious monuments across the globe that are neither understood nor capable of replication, all surrounded by poverty, superstition, squalor and... COLOREDS.

As the White man was really getting back up on his feet and truly organized once again by the eighteenth century, and as the centuries-old menace of militant Islam was on the wane, particularly in north Africa and the Middle East, we - and I can say WE - were able to go back and rediscover ourselves and what we had been. Places that had disappeared from sight under the sand and which had been denied to us by colored infidels, places that had already taken on mythological proportions and which many of the time seriously doubted the existence of, were FOUND by these White explorers.

So it really wasn't mythology after all. And those ancient carvings and paintings - at least insofar as the earlier dynasties, etc., were concerned - showed WHITE people. But Western civilization was so secure then that the stark lesson wasn't taken for what it really was. "It CAN'T happen here."

But it HAS happened here!

Two items to bear in mind now are that, as outlined above, the past truly is the present but that, this time, it is global and it is for keeps.

XI

A person isn't likely to be able to gloss over or forget about a major turning point or major enlightenment in their life. And so it is without apology that I state again that it was as a person in my mid-forties, with all the maturity which that implies, with practically a lifetime of Movement education and experience behind me, that I really made a study of the Bible. I was in maximum security prison on account of my political contacts. Literally a political prisoner in the United States.

Well, there at least was one popular bubble definitively burst. It's been my business all along to explode as many lies and misconceptions which prevalently abound as possible.

All I can say is that I was READY at that moment. And the moment itself was PERFECT for such study. No distractions whatever. I could become absorbed. I WAS absorbed. I've said it again and again that, no matter how strange the words may sound to us today, in this setting, and certainly no matter how twisted and gutted they may have become in the hands of these present-day charlatans who pose as - and who may even think of themselves as - "Christians", they either mean nothing or they mean something.

Should they be found to mean nothing, they need to be dispensed with post haste. But should they be found to mean something, then it would appear to be at least as critical and as relevant to us today to UNDERSTAND WELL the meaning in the same way as the meaning of such as the Pyramid or the Sphinx. Those edifices didn't get there, weren't designed to survive the ages for no reason (and certainly not for some silly reason.) Neither were the collected books of the Bible.

"Open to interpretation." There are infinite wrong takes to be made. There is only one correct one. I say that just about all of the misinterpretations of the Bible's meaning have been made and that this is what currently stands today as "truth". At the very least, we need to look where none others have looked. And particularly any area that has been proscribed, written off, "discredited", outlawed, criminalized... SET AT NAUGHT... by the powers that dominate.

Are all people indeed the same? Are all buildings the same? Are all books the same? Whether one subscribes to the Master Race idea or not, we've already established the reality of the White FRAMEWORK of civilization which no other race possesses. And whatever the Pyramid may have been, it still could not be duplicated today. And the Bible? You simply must KNOW HOW TO READ in order to be able to get out of it what was put into it.

Particularly in the Books of the Prophets I caught what was happening here today, eventhough they were describing and bewailing what was going on there, then, three thousand years ago and halfway around the world. A writer with the skill of a Tolkien could create something written in the mythological and Old English style of the Bible pertaining directly to what's transpiring here today and make a popular hit of it. It would be "safe" because no one would get the connection. That's exactly the reason why the Bible is everywhere but is nowhere understood.

Is it myth or is it entertainment? Is it nothing or is it something? Is it something that you just can't catch? All that weird business being talked about is happening right here, right now in these streets. And the reason for it being, as I realized at the time, is that all high, White civilizations not only rise but also perish in identically the same fashion, for all the same reasons. Naturally, the symptoms would be similar as well. The most insidious of these being the utter blindness of the very people who are stricken as to what is actually occurring to them even as it is occurring.

The reason behind that, as the authors of the Bible explained together, as a single voice, was due to "the stone that the builders set at naught". Watch out for recurrent themes such as this within the Bible for they are present for the sake of emphasis. As I have previously written, later on, within the New Testament, this "stone" assumes an identity: That of Jesus Christ. Now a person may "believe in" Jesus or he may not. But none of it is any good unless the individual UNDERSTANDS the MEANING and SIGNIFICANCE of Jesus' appearance. A man was put to death. Many men are put to death. But WHY and BY WHOM?

They harp on about "to save us from our sins". Better put, "the sins of the fathers". Demystified, a sin is but an error. The worst error a person can commit is the act of race-mixing. And the world Christ lived and walked in was a world two-thirds full-up with the LIVING sins of the Hebrew forefathers: Living, breathing SINS... racial Jews. (They would have you believe that a new-born child is already "covered with sin". Only in the sense that he or she is born into a world full of and dominated by racial aliens.)

It was and remains the RACE ISSUE. I might even grudgingly concede that the so-called "best minds" are still in charge overall, just as they were back then. Trained lawyers and businessmen, etc. Managers. Caretakers. But all for what? For the sake of some man-made abstract? But not for the RACE that first created it all. Indeed, at least here, now, the very thought has become anathema. Literally, THE STONE THE BUILDERS SET AT NAUGHT!

But it is the very corner stone. The stone without which all the rest really amounts to naught, ultimately.

Someone, some power it seems has a vested interest in seeing to it that this "stone" not only gets "set at naught" in the present but that it truly does become the anathema that I mentioned, positively OUTLAWED and proscribed, CRIMINALIZED by the powers that be. This in a geo-political entity that formerly was ninety percent White when this particular force took command. Here you have the conspiracy and here you have not only its agenda but the outcome of that agenda.

I found that the appearance of the Jews upon the scene within the Old Testament was presented quite starkly and in all brevity. The invading, conquering Israelites - OURSELVES - did not eliminate all of the native Canaanites in the manner which God had commanded them. They wormed their way back in as slaves, practically. From that point it was gradual assimilation. That and pure lust. All of the troublesome women in the Old Testament, from Delilah to Jezebel, were identified as racial Jewesses - that is, Canaanites who had at least superficially adopted the Hebrew Temple - of whom White, Israelite men had fallen enamoured.

It should be stressed at this stage that this assimilation process shared many things in common with the more recent Negro assimilation into this formerly White society with its correspondingly disastrous consequences. EXCEPT that the Canaanites there, then did it for themselves. These Negroes here could never have successfully invaded the former White American society on their own. The record shows that it was DONE FOR THEM by these Jews with their organizations like the NAACP, etc.

Even Solomon, who appeared at the very zenith of what could properly be termed the Empire of Israel, with his three hundred or so concubines... Most of these being "outlandish women who turned the heart of the king away from God." From that point it was civil war, division, corruption, degeneracy and finally conquest and deportation.

Should you feel that fifty percent of the population is bad (and it is because it has been robbed of everything that it means to BE White), try thinking in terms of one-third. That and a king set over you by occupying Romans who was, again, one more of these assimilated Canaanites. That was the world Christ entered upon. And try to imagine yourself today going down to some civic center park in any major community in the United States and delivering a speech on race. This is why Jesus was murdered.

The Jews together with their mob who would not tolerate their apple cart being overturned and the Roman occupiers who were mere automata in the matter.

They hate him to this day eventhough his Church has been thoroughly co-opted and neutralized. Now, of course, it is Hitler. Adolf Hitler's name and image STRIKE FIRE to this day despite the fact that the "Allied" automata foolishly went and "crucified" Germany for having heard and accepted his message, the same as that of Jesus Christ.

And delusion. God said that he would permit them "strong delusion". Eighty percent of those calling themselves "Jews" today are in no way even related to these Canaanite Jews of the Bible but are racial descendants of the Asiatic tribe of Khazars of southern Russia who converted enmasse to Judaism in the eighth century. Referred to in the Bible as "Gog and Magog", they were thus ANTICIPATED at least a thousand years prior to their appearance on earth.

"God's Chosen People", indeed.

And keep in mind a people representing FRAMEWORK versus a people representing PARASITISM.

XII

Referring back to the beginning of this essay, we're not going to waste our time musing as to whether or not there exists conspiracy in our national life. And, should we determine that there might be, we're not going to make fools of ourselves discussing to what extent it governs the situation. The conspiracy is real and controls all. We concern ourselves with the greater implications of this.

Certainly we're not going to play it dumb by uselessly dissecting such outfits as the Masonic Lodges, etc., which only have been co-opted long ago by the only true conspiracy that we need to worry about: The Jewish conspiracy. This one movement, together with its many tentacles, represents an attack upon the folk and, as such, is unique and overrides all other issues.

A unique drive made on the part of a unique people.

Remember that there were no "Jews" from the beginning. Second Kings, 16:6, is where the word first appears in the King James Bible. Approximately one thousand B.C. But there had been a Satanic strain on earth from the start as we may know from the tale of the seduction of Eve. This strain of human type apparently was present in those people commonly known as Canaanites who had settled and occupied that land which the Israelites - ourselves - had set their sights upon from the time of the Exodus from Egypt.

God told them what must be done. Either kill all of them or drive all the rest out. Should we fail to do this, we would be destroyed as a result. But it was we who went to them and took their land, much as we did with the Red Indians in North America. But the Canaanites were a far different sort from the Red Indians. Having managed to save themselves by an eyelash, they did what they had to do: They assimilated.

"A leopard can't change its spots." I remember as a kid how we'd enjoy getting souvenirs together in the form of miniature totem poles, etc. How I was astonished when I read in the Old Testament of such things as "ashara poles" of the Canaanites. Of course, God commanded that they be destroyed. Merely carved wood? No power in themselves but what they might do to our consciousness should we "see" anything in them.

Silliness and even quaint. Allow these beaten people to retain something of their old ways. Well, of course, if you're going to permit the people themselves, you've already opened the door. Because it wouldn't matter if you did stamp out every vestige of their culture, allowing them to live and to assimilate. All of these pagan and superstitious ways did not emanate from those wooden poles, etc. It all came from within the genes of their blood.

I've written before that there was a certain degree of mingling between Whites and Indians. Not a good thing, to be sure. But it didn't seriously alter or very much hamper the development of White life upon the North American continent. Just the opposite with the assimilation of the native Canaanites among the invading Israelites. They ceased - as a result of this mingling - being their natural selves. They grew perverse. Finally, all of these "citizens" within the now-corrupted Hebrew Temple were classified as Jews, whether White, Canaanite or cross-breed.

At last that White framework I spoke of before gave way and the whole place was overran and deported by external enemies. These enemies, racial kin to the original Canaanites, restocked the depleted, depopulated land with more of their own kind. But these were taught the Hebrew Temple. After seventy years of enforced exile, the former population was granted the freedom to stay, go or return to Palestine. Of an estimated ten million persons, fifty thousand are accounted for in the Bible as having chosen to return to the Holy Land.

And these were all good Whites as we may know by the Book of Nehemiah, etc. But they returned to be a minority in what had been the land of their forefathers. Later, the entire place became vassal to Rome and, as such, an effective "democracy". Outnumbered and not master over themselves or their destiny. Into this mess, five hundred years on, came Jesus Christ.

The portrayal and representation of this man, his coming, his mission, his sacrifice, his significance by the modern Christian Church is ridiculous, meaningless, misleading and does at least as much damage to our people as any direct attack on the part of any alien people. For he was "the stone that the builders set at naught". Today, those fakers who pretend to represent him follow the same path as those fools who caused the Holy Land to be lost originally.

They negate the issue of race. To them all is "belief" and all is assimilation. This is the recipe for national DEATH.

Once more, the escape, the migration enmasse of the vast bulk of old Israelite stock from the lost and spoiled Holy Land and into unspoiled Europe, the old frontier, was anticipated by the prophets. There they would lose all memory of the filthiness of life in a Jewish milieu and there they would be safe - for as long as it required - racially, genetically - until the time for the next phase arrived.

Take away the racial aspect, the fact that Jesus stated that he was only sent "to the lost sheep of the House of Israel", and most of his pronouncements and actions over the short three years of his ministry in the Holy Land have little or no apparent meaning. (Unless it is to be used to promote and facilitate "tolerance" for strangers and strange ways.) One may take them for whatever it pleases him for them to represent. A whole lot of nothing. And so we see today and for a long time past a Christian Church in a state of ruin. And this is the "spiritual foundation"?

But it wasn't like that then. Reaction on the part of the enemy was swift and terrible. They understood. But so did those for whom the word had been sent. Even at that, the whole of the Middle East was to be swept by militant Islam and it would be a thousand years before Christian Europe would stand as a reality. And stand it did against wave and assault from Asia and Africa. And then it proceeded to reconquer the world. Art and science, literature and music exploded and flourished. It was the Renaissance, literally the "Resurrection".

And during this time, Jews - what had been left after Christ had thrown the fatal, critical division between racess of people - were banished away from the Christian states of Europe and toward the east. This was Satan being thrown into his prison for a thousand years. Christian Europe effectively stood for a thousand years, the Thousand Years of Christ. NOT in some intangible future, as these crackpots today would have it, but in a very real and documented PAST.

There would come Satan's escape from his prison in order to again deceive the nations. There would come the end to the Thousand Years of Christ (and I'll maintain to the day I die that this took place in 1945) and there would then commence Satan's Little Season which, again I maintain, is exactly where we find ourselves at present. All of it anticipated.

The drama of high creation on this planet only shifted into high gear very recently. The destruction of the Holy Land, the coming of Christ, the rise of Western Christian civilization. And then the twentieth century with its world wars, etc., which upturned everything. A renewed assault upon God's people and God's purpose. This time global in scope. A diabolical conspiracy on the brink of complete success.

But this, too, was anticipated.

XIII

This missing - deliberately overlooked - key to history, that is, our having separated ourselves from the cosmopolitan mess after the fall of the Holy Land, tells much about ourselves. We might take a place over as conquerors but we never worm our way into an already established society of strangers and milk it like a parasite, seeking at the same time to "change" its host inhabitants.

So why did these Jews seek to re-mingle themselves with White, Western Christianity once all this confusion, hell and damnation had apparently been resolved? That says at least as much about them as the former paragraph said about us.

Pogroms, yes. But God had said to eliminate them in total at the start when the opportunity was at its best. Since that time, however, it seemed always to be a matter - insofar as we were concerned - of this insane idea of assimilation. If they would but convert, try to look and act like us, clean up their act, then they could remain among us. Frankly, I don't want to be anywhere or among anyone if I cannot be myself.

Unless there is some ulterior motivation.

Yes, we moved in on them at the time of the Exodus, Joshua, etc. We conquered them, dispossessed them, made slaves of them and put them to paying tribute to continue to exist on what had been their own land. We did this with the Red Indians of North America and I postulate that we did it with the Neanderthal in Europe ten thousand years ago. We did it with the aborigines in Australia. And we should have done a bigger and better job of it in southern Africa.

But only the Jews took over via assimilation our very own Hebrew Temple and made a foul mockery of it. And only the Jews murdered our Jesus Christ, announcing at the time that the guilt of this act should remain not only on their heads but the heads of their children for all time to come. Only the Jews have stepped in between us and our God to pose as "his chosen". Any of the rest might be viewed as a pernicious influence in our midst but only the Jews have gotten themselves into position to literally LEAD us over a cliff to destruction nationally.

They think the way they do, have the "values" that they have due to their genetic make-up. But when we arrive at the conspiracy and consider its target - ourselves - we are dealing with criminality. And if that as well is something inborn then, well, God did after all tell us what had to be done at the start.

XIV

Once again, a tight reading of the Bible will reveal that it is ourselves who are God's Chosen. I've written much more on this elsewhere but, again, I've chosen here to rely upon the illustration of WHITE FRAMEWORK to make my case. The one is tantamount to the other in practicality. No other race of man has this capacity. And God's Chosen would not include conspirators much less parasites.

This global White framework is what still prevents the Third World from basically eating itself. In White lands, it's stronger. In colored lands, it's weaker. But it is the only thing which stands between humanity and absolute chaos. At the very same time, the parasitic Jews are riding on the shoulders of this White framework and are and have been using it as their steed in global domination.

Many colored nations - particularly Islamic - see this better than we do and are reacting violently to it.

Unfortunately, many of the rest - particularly militant Blacks - see the whole thing as "the White man's system". What an error!

The Islamics see what this so-called "democracy" has done to our society and are determined that it shall not happen to theirs. And toward this end they are more than ready to give up their lives. If only there were that much HEART over here! Blacks, Hispanics, etc., may hate the White man, may curse the memory of Columbus, but they like those White women and those hot cars from out of Detroit (not to mention those welfare checks.) I really don't think they'd be willing to step back into the "bad old days" before the White man came and brought this framework of his.

At this point it is clear that these people here today are not going to be parted from their Jewish overlords. These absolute crazies, in many instances, see the "relationship" this place has with Jews as being the reason for all the many "blessings" we "enjoy". They are stricken blind.

Now the White framework supports and makes possible the domination of the planet by these Jews. White industry and productivity equals an irresistible economic force. White military prowess and technological genius equals an irresistible armed threat. However, the overriding Jewish culture-pollution emanating from Hollywood, New York, etc., represents an equally irresistible and thoroughly EVIL hypnotic effect over the human conscious and subconscious mind. That self-same White framework and dynamism thus SPREADS this poison.

And many Whites are solidly behind this. They see it somehow as "theirs". They do not see that they are the primary victim of it. All of these natural attributes of the White race ought properly to be going toward the ADVANCEMENT OF THE WHITE RACE and no other cause. But the framework holds even if the overall state of the people maintaining it is in a shambles. That is how great civilizations die: A misguided people goes on in its misguidance until there is too little left of anything worthwhile even to maintain the framework. By then, of course, it's too late.

A lovely German-American girl, aged about thirty, unmarried, no children and a former student at Berkeley once remarked to me how she had arrived to work in her car "on fumes" and that there was nothing in her refrigerator at home. But a moment or so later she suggested to me that I "volunteer" at some damned urban thing or another for "children" so that I could, just as she was doing, "give back".

In 1900 the White race stood at about thirty percent of the world's population. One hundred years later it was hovering barely at about ten percent. In 1950 the United States was ninety percent White. Today it hovers barely at about fifty percent. And yet there remains babble about "minorities".

I am not one for anecdotes or statistics but sometimes they suit best for the sake of illustration. And the above two examples do well eventhough they are not among the very worst. The worst of it is the intellectual and instinctual PERVERSION having been done to the Whites over the course of the last hundred years which has allowed for this sort of thing to take place.

If they could but WAKE UP and be themselves truly once again, the situation could be reversed practically overnight. In the Bible it says "turn earnestly back to the Lord". The very motto of the Nazi Party in Germany was "Deutschland erwacht!" But, owing to "Hollywood" and the Jewish domination of all media, they have no genuine conception of the Lord or his meaning and the examples of Hitler and National Socialism are put up as the very epitome of "evil".

So you tell me the approximate chances of these people ever "waking up".

XV

When I was a young person and new to this Movement, all the literature ran along the line of how the conspiracy had lied, misled or otherwise tricked the people of the White nations into falling for some decision or action that was contrary to their own best interests.

In the case of the Federal Reserve System, it must have sounded like a good idea in order to prevent future economic "panics" as there had been in the past. So the private - and Jewish-owned - banks took control of this country's money. But then came the Great Depression of 1929 despite all. It was triggered, some had advance warning, a lot of people were ruined. But mainly it was a great shifting or "transferral" of vast funds. And I think we know from where to whom. And the country was to remain in a state of depression until the Second World War could be engineered to stimulate war production.

Playing one brother off another, in other words, utilizing the disunity between the Tribes of Israel which were now the modern states of Europe and America, the conspiracy was able to spark both world wars. A lot of fine people slaughtered on the battlefield, an entire social order toppled, and civilization left much weaker as a result.

And the international move on the part of Jewry against Russia, commonly known as the "Russian Revolution". In the chaos and collapse of the First World War, the Jews saw their chance to act boldly and seize the Russian Empire. Wall Street over here footed all costs. Both sides of the combattants in the still-raging war permitted Jewish Bolsheviks like Lenin and Trotsky to travel land and sea unmolested so as to be able to pull off this take-over.

A dire peace treaty was signed with Germany in order to stop hostilities and allow them to consolidate their take-over. This was undertaken in the full knowledge that the same scam was about to be played out against Germany from within and that any concessions now made would soon be rendered null and void. But for the present and for the years to follow, the cream of Russian society, from the Czar and his family on down, were murdered by Jewish hit teams, the "Red Terror".

One year later, as planned, it was Germany's turn. Jewish strikes, riots and Communist revolutions in the various German states forced the Kaiser to abdicate and a new "Social Democratic" (Jewish) government to sue for peace with the Entente on the fairly generous-sounding "Fourteen Points" of Woodrow Wilson. What they got instead was continued blockade and starvation, etc., until they were willing to accept the Versailles Treaty which amounted to perpetual national slavery.

People still wonder why this was done, especially to a "new" government, when it was clear that it would probably lead to a new war. The new war was far from a certainty at that time because Germany was disarmed. The reason for the ruinous conditions imposed was to pave the way for ultimate Communist take-over of Germany due to the fact that naked Communist, Jewish revolution had failed in 1918 and 1919, unlike in Russia. Sooner or later the people would be forced to turn to Communism just in order to save themselves from complete anarchy.

But then came Hitler and the National Socialist German Workers Party. Again, something that wasn't supposed to happen. In other words, something not planned by THEM. If the Judea of Christ had been better than ninety percent White instead of only thirty percent, his outcome might have resembled that of Hitler's in Germany. Hitler was able to perform a MIRACLE in the land targetted by Lenin as the key to the Red revolution of the world.

The old order was rotten through and through, even as Hitler outlined in his, "Mein Kampf". Otherwise, a Jewish upheaval of this sort would have been out of the question. Some of the survivors of this decadent "Weimar" period in Germany would later comment that all of the degeneracy coming to the fore in the United States and all of the West as of the Sixties, Seventies and onward was NOTHING compared to what was open and rampant in Germany in the Twenties. It was Jewish.

Hitler reversed the situation, retook Germany for the Germans and literally THREW OUT Satan with his anti-Jewish legislations.

Germany began to flourish even as the West was still sunk in the Depression and as the East was being trampled and slaughtered by Jewish Reds. It was the start of a new Renaissance. Mussolini had done practically the same in Italy. Franco in Spain would, with the help of Germany and Italy, rout the international Communists who had attempted to seize his country.

Unfortunately, in the United States, the people, driven to desperation by the Depression and totally misled by the Jewish-controlled media, elected one Franklin Roosevelt as their President together with his own criminal gang which he called the "New Deal". His first move was to give diplomatic recognition to the Communist regime in Russia thus helping secure that criminal endeavor. His second was to bring Marxist socialism to the United States on the excuse of relieving the Depression.

But the Depression was not relieved eventhough the United States now had an alien form of socialism.

The problem at hand for Roosevelt and the world conspiracy was to deal with Hitler, that "monkey wrench" that they had not figured upon. In the beginning, that such a man might appear upon the scene was out of the question. But then, once he did, all the mess and confusion generated by "democracy" in Germany surely would prevent him from getting anywhere with the masses. But once he overcame that much, then betrayal within his own ranks would surely undo him. When that didn't work either, then it would be up to direct assassination. When these attempt were bungled, it would be military overthrow.

Nothing was working. It would have to come to generalized war. Hitler was setting things right in Europe and doing so even according to Versailles rules. The "plebicite", or popuar vote, was uniting the German people as never before. And this was something the conspiracy could not tolerate. For something like this to arise and stand would mean that time itself was now

AGAINST the conspiracy rather than for it.

The old trick that started World War One worked well again to ignite the Second World War. Polish nationalism did the job where before it had been Serbian nationalism. British and French carte blanche to Poland to act in any way toward Germany was the torch. The placement as Prime Minister in Britain of Winston Churchill - who had been bought and paid for by the Jewish conspiracy already in 1938 - provided that no sane ending of the war could ever hope to be reached. Churchill's job was to involve the United States. Roosevelt's job was to get the United States involved.

As for the Soviet Union, it was only waiting for the opportunity to roll over Europe.

Germany fared far better militarily than anyone had expected in the beginning. After the fall of France in 1940, politicians and statesmen acting in their nation's and in Europe's best interests would have called an armistice. But Churchill was paid to not only keep the war going but to expand it. As for Roosevelt, he violated every international law of neutrality in attempt to provoke Germany to declare war against the United States but to no avail.

The Soviet Union, in secret agreement with Churchill, was to attack Germany in the east in the fall of 1941. Knowing this, Germany struck first that June. The military achievements against the Soviet Union by Germany find no equal in history and only the insane tenacity of Stalin and the Jewish commissars prevented a surrender there. They knew they could hold out because they knew what was next.

Failing to provoke Germany to seemingly attack first, Roosevelt turned his attention to Germany's ally, Japan. The same sort of provocation worked here and Japan attacked Pearl Harbor in December of 1941.

Germany honored its commitment to Japan and entered the war against the United States. Of course, the duped peoples of not only the United States but of Russia as well responded predictably to what looked like naked aggression against them.

While U.S. troops were running out of ammunition in the Pacific and their positions were being overran by the Japanese, the vast bulk of U.S. materiel was being shipped to Britain and to the Soviet Union. Thus the balance was tipped and Germany was ground to dust by this world onslaught.

Half the world was delivered up to Soviet Communism and the rest to Jewish Capitalism. The empires of Europe - those who had fought WITH the so-called "Allies" - were dismantled. The United States, though it got great, sudden wealth as a result of the levelling of the rest of the world, also got Korea and Vietnam plus the disintegration of its own society along with that of the rest of the West now under its economic and military net.

And the answer and the salvation to all of this had been CRIMINALIZED by the Jewish conspiracy at the end of the Second World War. "Nazism", "Fascism" and "Racism" now were anathema... See all of those dead soldiers and all of those dead concentration camp inmates.

The Thousand Years of Christ had ended and Satan's Little Season had begun.

XVI

The prime movers behind the Second World War - Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill - all shared a couple of things in common. Roosevelt and Churchill were part Jewish and Stalin had been raised in the Jewish home of Kaganovich, later to become his Commissar of Heavy Industry. Roosevelt was - apparently from birth - an avowed and committed globalist while Churchill could talk of the talk of an "Empire man"... at least until he sold himself and his country out to the globalists. Stalin - somewhat later diagnosed as a paranoid schizophrenic and a dangerous criminal sort - had been studying in a seminary when he bumped into - not Marx - but Darwin. The Jewish influence over him took care of the rest.

So we had two globalists and one miserable sell-out. I've often wondered who was the senior of the two: Stalin or Roosevelt. But it had to have been Roosevelt for, without him and his baleful influence over the innate might of the United States, the Soviet Union would have gone down the drain. And minus the key input of traitor Churchill, there might not have been a World War Two.

At that time, it was necessary to trick the populace. Control over the media was key in this. Ninety percent of the U.S. population had no idea that Roosevelt was paralyzed with polio. Those famous speeches of Churchill's that everyone is familiar with was not even the voice of Churchill but a radio actor standing in for the occasion because Churchill was too drunk to go on the air. And no one was allowed to guess that Stalin had baited the Germans into attacking the Soviet Union in 1941, resulting in the most horrendous military losses in history. All for the sake of forming an "alliance" against Germany to remove the last real opposition to this Jewish conspiratorial globalism.

The respective people had to be made to think that they were fighting the good fight. And when, today, they refer to these duped populaces as "The Greatest Generation", they are right in one sense: That was the high-water mark in Western, Christian civilization. From there on, it was downhill all the way. With the final props knocked out from under, as I've said, there no longer was a leg to stand on and we eventually arrived at where we presently find ourselves.

And so from the "good fight" of the Second World War era, we moved on into the stalemate of the Cold War. This still is painted as having been an unfortunate "mistake". They apologize endlessly for Roosevelt's "weakness" and "gullibility" in the face of Stalin's voraciousness at the close of the Second World War. They blame it on Roosevelt's badly failing health. But this was a "gentleman's agreement" already worked out way in advance. The two halves of the Jewish world conspiracy now dividing the globe between themselves. Churchill was by now out of the equation just as Britain was no longer a world power but a U.S. satellite. Indeed, he was thrown out of office by the voters in 1945... albeit after the damage had been done.

A standing army of traitors now stepped forward in the nations of the West. In the East it was somewhat different as they didn't try to hide their purpose in the same way, they just didn't come all the way out and declare the Jewish "millennium". The nations of the West, essentially now all dependent upon the United States for economic and military stability, relied fully upon the shell game of "democracy" plus the threat of the Eastern bloc to keep their respective populations under control and in check. The "blunders" and "mistakes" of a Truman, for example, might be corrected by the election of an Eisenhower. The "blunders" and "mistakes" of an Eisenhower might be corrected by the election of a Kennedy, etc.

But these were not blunders nor mistakes. These were key steps toward the erection of a global community over the heads of national sovereignty. And the thing to bear in mind that it was WHITE SOVEREIGNTY that was under attack. Sufficient awareness and healthy instinct as yet remained within enough of the White population that it had to be explained this way. (And all of it under the threat of nuclear blackmail.) One of the parables of Jesus had to do with the strong man and his house. Before you could despoil the strong man's house, you first had to BIND the strong man. This is what was now underway in the nations of the West. White will, awareness and ability to act had to be eroded and removed.

It is demonstrable that those in a line from Truman through Nixon were conscious TRAITORS. Kennedy was murdered for having dragged his feet in his appointed task. But even prior to this, it was known and understood that murder would be the result should one - once entering the game - ever balk at continuing. And murder with impunity, as the incredible, massive Kennedy cover-up showed. For Nixon, the last in that line, it was different: He was literally CRUCIFIED in the media along with the remainder of American "conservative" hold-outs against the one-world trend. It was sent as a message.

And it is equally demonstrable that the rest in the line of the dupes, starting with Ford, were but mindless tools from whom the conspiracy knew they had nothing to worry about. Not a clue. And these were the leaders of the nation, the leaders of the West. I well recall Carter not only bemoaning a "national melange" during the 1970s but also being the first - and possibly the only - U.S. President to openly acknowledge the existence of an American Nazi Party. These were errors on his part, made from out of the depths of ignorance. For one, everything was supposed to be painted as "rosy" before the American public and, second, no organized resistance to any of this was supposed to exist.

And then there was the lamentation of Bush, the Senior, when he called for "a kinder and gentler" America." Did he not realize that all this continued push for racial integration and assimilation could only lead to more savagery?

Meanwhile, demographics were taking their toll as well. More colored and less White. Each generation of Whites less capable of passing along White traditions to the next. Fewer Whites even having families. Little memory of how things once were and should be. Everything now an abstract.

XVII

The kind of "democracy" that exists at present seems to have found its natural precursors in two locales: Stalinist Russia and the pornography industry. I've written this before but it is the damned truth and eminently worth repeating here. "Quotas" and "qualifications". Stuffed shirts and "pricks with ears". "PC". Of course, that top 3% which owns and dictates all. As kids we'd marvel - darkly - at the Soviet female soldiers, etc. Media image-making of things that never took place or, conversely, the blacking out of things which did take place. And, finally, the perfect interchangeability of male/female or Black/White.

It represents the ousting of ORDER and the enthronement of CONFUSION. And I have previously identified the more or less tame-sounding "confusion" as practical, working EVIL.

Now that is where WE first encountered this sort of thing. From the netherworld, from the underworld.

From areas discredited, disgraced. I'm sorry but that's it. That's part of what I mean when I say that if you are not of sufficient age, then you cannot recall a time when sanity and decency still ruled. I barely made it myself. I've written also about my personal observations within the same families, from eldest to youngest siblings, and the tell-tale differences between them revealing the terrible speed and deadly effect of this alien conditioning.

When, in the last chapter, I used the term, "abstract", it was by no accident that I conjured up the image of a so-called "abstract" painting or sculpture. I've said before that something for everyone is really for no one. And if you are left to read anything into something, then there is truly nothing present to begin with. So it is with so-called "democracy". One system purporting to represent all the people? No. It can only be the same "managed confusion" I've already mentioned. It is a stacked deck. And a deck stacked against the WHITE PRODUCERS. And stacked by whom?

Democracy just as art abstraction is a Jewish concept, plain and simple. Both are a debasement of that which is REAL and of VALUE.

Adolf Hitler, writing in Mein Kampf, said that the Jews could only ever aspire to being the masters over a world of bastards. Total mediocrity. Total confusion. This is the basis for the lie of "equality". A levelling. A war upon excellence. A darkening. A dumbing down on a broad basis. The bringing of the Third World to a GLOBAL condition from which there can be no turning back, ever. And, as in the previous volume, if it was Intervention which brought us here in the first instance, it will be Intervention that rescues this DNA colonization from deep space at the end.

And THAT is the message of the entire Bible.

Once more, as Hitler wrote in 1924, it is not lost wars which send men to ruin but the loss of the purity of their blood. The United States is not only fast on its way to ruin - dragging the remainder of the West with it - but as yet still stands militarily supreme in the world. Exactly like dying Rome.

And at the very center of this swirling nightmare is what amounts to a new religion: Liberalism. At least that's what we used to call it. It's assumed new proportions since then and may well carry a new name today. ("Globalism" and "diversity" being but two of the new false deities.) But these people are locked onto it and can't think in any other terms. This is the very illustration of what stricken with historic blindness means and what being marked for death by the gods means.

They've lost their racial imperative. They've lost their very institutions. Their former land is now flooded with fifty percent non-Whites. And no one addresses this as the only issue. That would have to be because they are GONE. The end of an age and what that implies. It took a long time for me to grasp it. For one, it is too big. For another, no one wants to think in such terms. But only in the fullest grasp of reality is there to be found any hope at all for a future.

It's been anticipated. Indeed, it's already happened.

XVIII

To this day when people think of conspiracy, they think of secret wire-pullers and this is quite correct. But this volume deals more with the effect of secret wire-pulling as it has had to do with an entire people for more than a century. They don't know, they just don't know.

The former, old "Right Wing" did an admirable job of laying out just what "wire" got "pulled", when, where, how and by whom. The documentation is staggering. This literally altered the course... let us say, the PROPER course of what White history should have been without alien input. But "should have", "would have" and "could have" count for very little when up against harsh reality and WHAT IS. But, again, even all that was anticipated.

I see some poor victim - and that poor victim might be a millionairess or the like - lost to her people, herself and her God, in the clutches of the foulest of evil. Was she born to this? Properly, no. The lost souls who, in a different environment, might have made strong, healthy and happy citizens and heads of families, etc., gone quite literally to hell. This is part of the price to pay for permitting strangers to rule over you. Didn't see it coming? There's a HELL of a price to pay for that as well.

Saint Paul lived and worked in an environment that must surely have been closely akin to the present one. He said much on the subject of daily life in such an environment but the thing which stands out the starkest to me is when he warned that Satan was roving about as a ravenous beast, seeking whomever he may devour. A "demon", a "devil" with horns and a tail? Hardly.

Satan was there in the Garden of Eden. It was flesh and it was physical. It dealt with cross-breeding involving something non-White and the enmity - to use God's own choice of words - between the human seed and the Satanic seed thence forth. The Bible weaves a very tight tale which renders the body of the Jews - all Jews - as Satan himself. But we know that "Jews", as a pseudo "race", came about through race-mixing and cultural assimilation. I believe that the true message here is that ANYTHING non-White, loose within White society, or formerly White society, as any sort of "equal citizen", free to exercise his or her "right" to intermingle with the remnant Whites, does represent this same body of Satan.

The weak, the susceptible and the miserable are falling like flies and shall continue to do so. Such a trend can only be expected to continue and to increase as there comes less and less of White awareness and traditions and more and more of alien, non-White confusion and evil. They are cut loose.

What's the bottom line to this? In my professional career I deal with the general public. And, as such, I have to BE professional. This I manage to do. But what I witness growing over the years and the decades is a parade of dumb-asses breeding even dumber asses. That's not even the main point. The real point here is that, over a populace of inherent, genetic and irreversible dumb-asses, it doesn't even matter whether anyone is pulling their strings for them or not.

The purpose of any conspiracy is to accomplish a set task. We now are able to SEE and WITNESS the end result, exactly what the task of this conspiracy has been all along. In order to become worse, it has but to spread and erase what decent genetic stock as remains not only in the United States but anywhere on the planet. Of course, "globalism" has that already mapped out.

"Economics", hell! They'd love for you to go on believing that.

To monopolize the economics has been but one more step along the path, just as it was to have monopolized the media. But it doesn't end until it truly ends. The very final thing - that from which all else of worth emanates - is the masses of decent Whites who make up this FRAMEWORK, as I've outlined, which provides for civilization. After that, I suppose, it will be the earth's atmosphere itself once all concerned and responsible White awareness goes along with the race. But try telling THAT to the "Green Peace" types.

Infiltrators, I suppose, come first. The "block-busters", etc., who represent the "pioneers" of a conspiracy just getting off the ground as it comes to invading and attacking a target people. And when I say "target people", the conspiracy never goes after non-White societies for the simple reason that there is already NO FUTURE in it. That talk, once again, of Saint Paul's and of God formerly "winking" at the natural collapse of peoples and civilizations which has already done them in.

But it probably was not a conspiracy that did it.

Rather, the natural progression over centuries of lust and of proximity. Big difference.

Here over the course of at least a hundred years - and certainly somewhat more - it has been a CONCENTRATED ATTACK. Nothing put it more succinctly than the quote taken from one Israel Cohen in England in the year 1905 when he boasted that, with the power already in their hands, they would implement the mixing of the races.

A lie? A "forgery"? Somehow it was entered into the United States Congressional Record during the 1950s and for some reason this has been the drive of the conspiracy that was already in place AT LEAST from that year, 1905.

I've refrained from direct quotes of any sort throughout this book but I must refer to that statement from out of the Book of Ezekiel which, to me, says it about as best as the one paraphrase I used just previously, coming, as it did, from the "other side":

"Thus saith the Lord God; Art thou he of whom I have spoken in old time by my servants the prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those days many years that I would bring thee against them?"

"And it shall come to pass at the same time when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, that my fury shall come up in my face."

(Ezekiel, Chapter Thirty-Eight, Verses 17 & 18.)

The moment would be the present and that present has yet to arrive. God awaits. Exactly on cue, Gog & Magog makes his move against God's own people. God, in effect, comments that, "I've been waiting for you a very long time.", and then proceeds to wipe him out once and for all.

"God", for these purposes, would be whomever was/is behind this whole Intervention which has been responsible for this "human condition" on earth. The "prophets" would be those of our race with the sense to recognize the truth and say it as such, whether they be heeded or not. HE brings them, they are acting as mere players, deluded and unaware. The "land of Israel" would be ANY land which the Whites ever once took as their own, for "Israel" means, "A Prince Ruling With God". And we have already identified "Gog & Magog" as being that 80% of world Jewry - that same Jewry which, by conspiracy, has bound the strong man so as to be despoiled - which has let loose the colored masses of the world against the White race.

Anticipated, indeed.

XIX

Just as there was THE personality of the twentieth century, Adolf Hitler, who was in no way part of the conspiracy's plan, so too was there THE critical moment within the twentieth century when history would go one direction or another. I've observed in the past that there never was such a thing as a man who "changed history". There have been men who kept history on course, however, and Hitler was one of these. In direct line with this, had things gone differently then, it would have meant the invalidation of the Bible. And what has been seen and written cannot be altered.

What happened, what really took place leading up to and as a result of the Second World War? We speak only of the White, Christian West. Surely the rats were in the pilings, terrible damage had been done to White society by the Industrial Revolution, the First World War, etc. Things were in trouble. But what faced each other across the battle lines were two fine societies, approximately on the same par. Brothers in every sense.

People think in the moment. Worse, they "think" what's been implanted. This was the moment for the West. It's just that in Germany and, to a smaller extent, in Italy and several of their central European allied countries, the Satanic, Jewish conspiracy had been overcome and thrown out. This was of no real concern to the conspiracy as a quick glance at a world map of the time would have shown. That was, EXCEPT in the case of Germany. Not just a first-rate nation but the greatest of the twelve tribes of Israel... Judah. Lenin had wanted Germany for his Bolshevik revolution, not Russia, just for this reason.

But who was able to see it in this way at the time? Indeed, who can see it this way in the present?

In straightforward terms, the conspiracy could not move forward with its agenda, especially as it concerned the United States, unless and until this significant opposition in the world was removed. In other words, had not Hitler come upon the scene, things would now be much further along toward ultimate degradation than they are at present. There would have to be a general war first. This would accomplish several things for the conspiracy: It would take out its opposition in the form of legitimate national governments and "criminalize" them before the gullible masses; It would - through war production - finally pull the so-called "democracies" out of the Depression; And it would establish absolutely the United States as home-base central of the "New World Order".

So, just as written in Revelation, friends were made to look like enemies, night as day, bitter as sweet, etc., and many millions of good lives were sacrificed on the battlefield in order to cement the conspiracy's lock over the planet. Coming from both sides, there never was a display of force to compare with this. But it represented that "Strong Man" that Christ had spoken of being unleashed upon HIMSELF. Duped in the case of the Western "democracies". The Germans KNEW they were fighting for their way of life. The rest IMAGINED they were doing the same while fighting the Germans who were portrayed by the alien media as a "threat" to this way of life.

Same way of life, remember. Someone lied.

The opposing governments - that of Roosevelt and that of Hitler - had come to power on the basis of their ECONOMIC PROGRAMS to pull their respective countries out of the effects of the Great Depression. Not very many people were paying too much attention to the philosophies and ideologies behind these programs. Not very many people have the CAPACITY for that. Hitler's was straight-up, exactly in the Aryan manner. Roosevelt's was cloaked in vague terms, painted in bright colors and sprinkled with meaningless blurbs like his famous, "We have nothing to fear but fear itself." The conspiracy never believed in laying its cards out on the table - nor could it afford to - for the simple reason that it knew it would be REJECTED by its target, host population.

Hitler and Germany did only what they had to. Elsewhere, it was all a matter of international chess in order to foment general war. In war, of course, madness assumes the helm and this is the conspiracy's own element.

In its every aspect, the Second World War was in the service of militant Communism, against everything that White, Western, Christian civilization ever stood for. And these millions over here suspected nothing. And they still don't. To die in the service of a lie. To enthrone a lie as a "Great Endeavor". To hail your own national, racial and cultural suicide! That's what can occur when aliens, "strangers", have taken command of your media, your institutions and have their stooges, their minions, in all positions of power and influence.

Then it was time for the gloves to come off and for the conspiracy to attack its own home base, or, better put, the very people and their societies who had just "won" the war for them. Of course, the defeated and overran nations of Europe would be helplessly dragged along in all of this.

Racial integration and cultural pollution.

The U.S. military was ordered to integrate and then it was used to forcibly integrate U.S. schools. The radios were blaring the worst of Negroid drivel. The youth was being corrupted and ruined - turned onto dope, etc. - split apart from its elders who, in any case, had literally paved the way for this by their going to war against Germany. And no one seemed to have a genuine clue.

I've commented in the past that the agenda of the conspiracy moved ahead at a pace that was only held back by whatever trepidation it may have had itself out of fear of generating too much of a backlash among masses of Whites who still had not had all of their brains and instincts sucked out of their heads by Communist conditioning. They still hate and defame Senator Joseph McCarthy for this. But the sad reality was that any White resistance to this was far too little and too late to be of any effect at all. The corner had already been turned.

The final World War Two veterans are about all gone as I write these words. And so too are about the last vestiges of whatever it was they thought they were fighting for. Many have colored grandchildren. The White grandfather of the colored U.S. President had been part of Patton's army. And I wonder what Patton himself would have had to say about this mess today. (Indeed he was murdered on government orders when he saw, too late, what the war had really been about.)

But those German generals and, indeed, the entire German populace who fought and endured to the end - those who are old enough to recall - know now just as they knew then what they had been fighting for. They were right. They were in the service of God, against the Satanic forces who were duped into fighting for a lie. It is all out on the table now, for any with the eyes to see it.

In Hitler's final radio address to the German people he insisted that the victory of January 30th, 1933 - that was, the legal assumption of power in Germany by the Nazi Party - was the guarantee of ultimate victory over the Jewish, Communist conspiracy. Ninety days later he was dead and Germany was completely overran by its enemies and literally torn apart. But things have changed since then. The worst fury that Satan was able to unleash had played itself out. It appeared well enough for him at the time, superficially. But things don't stand still.

The Soviet Union went down the drain without even a fight. Russia stands as approximately ninety percent Russian. Germany is reunited and must stand at about the same national percentage rate. The United States, who facilitated Satan's greatest coup against God's order and God's people, is like unto a cancerous tumor and hovering at about half-White. Anyone should be able to see what these facts spell for the future. And it is a hopeful future.

That "Strong Man" was bound and his house has been despoiled. It could only have been accomplished through his own cooperation with the Jewish "stranger" acting in conspiratorial fashion.

The thing to note now is the very SPEED of developments, especially since the end of the Second World War. Previously, as history has shown, it required many CENTURIES for this kind of rot and decay to invade, attack and destroy a formerly great nation. Here it has all happened inside of a single century, practically one human lifetime. This would have to be seen as a "crash course" of some kind or another. And certainly, as all documentation shows, no "accident". Someone, it would seem, is out to keep an appointment at all costs.

But I maintain, despite any expectations of their own, the appointment they will be keeping is that one written of in the Book of Ezekiel.

XX

And so we have the first half of the twentieth century as an unmitigated disaster for genuine civilization and those people who bear it. The last vestiges of vitality spent in furious self-destruction. Since then, nothing but a gradual falling apart. Technology alone has made stupendous strides - a last living testimony of enduring White genius - but to what end? The control of the many by the few.

As mentioned previously, there are many millions of good stock remaining on the planet and, more importantly, concentrated in Europe and North America to conceivably form the solid basis of some sort of rebirth one day. But it is a race. Will the alien system, whose continued influence diminishes the White race day by day, peter out before the numbers become too far gone? That is an interesting bet.

Barring this Intervention I keep bringing up, that is the one and only hope. A new "Dark Age"? That was the period in European history following the collapse of the Roman Empire. As has been correctly observed, a man of 500 B.C. was a lot smarter and better off than a man of 500 A.D. The important difference? The man of 500 A.D. did not live under a rotten, imperial system which amounted to an organized assault upon his blood and his culture. Things were tough but he had his fellows and he was genuinely free to find his own way to a better future.

So could such a break for us - then or now - truly be seen as a "Dark Age"? Or would the present moment, when hope itself is trampled, better fit such a description?

Existence under this alien system now spanning several generations has made boobs and veritable zombies out of the average White. His culture destroyed and replaced by some mutated "thing", time itself is his enemy as the ease, the temptation and even the pressure to mix his blood with that of racial aliens takes its increasing toll.

Has the conspiracy and its agenda entered its final phase? No. But it does approach its climax. The downhill momentum achieved is absolutely irreversible and increases in speed with each passing year. These people have arrived at the stage where they represent no more than the stewards of their own demise, ministers to the Third World. That "framework" remains but it is in the sole service of that which is evil.

I well recall the time of the great traitors who would present themselves before the public as candidates for public office. The one party a little more of a sell-out than the other but that was all. "The lesser of two evils." Some choice. They love to point to what were referred to as "collaborationists" in those European states who worked along with the Germans for a common, European destiny. Well, of course, after the War, there came the collaborationists of a different stripe. Those low-lives who had hidden in the cellars and who now were dragged up to front for the occupying alien powers.

This is the very sort which sits in offices of authority and "legitimacy" everywhere today and especially the United States. Not the relatively "high class" traitors we saw but mere home-grown turds on the same level with the sell-outs in any conquered, occupied land. For they don't have need of fooling people anymore. All instinct and true intelligence is gone. They merely require those with the correct "qualifications" to properly mouth the common mythology, the common superstition and act as business managers to guide things carefully toward the next and final phase.

They as yet love to pat themselves on the back at annual intervals when recalling the military exploits of the past hundred years, never realizing or admitting that these amounted only to no-can-lose cheap-shots on the part of a travelling murder circus acting on behalf of the world enemy. And most lately it has revealed itself as being the conspiracy's tool for the taking-out of even the tiniest of family-level resistance pockets.

The harvest of conspiracy. In a hundred years gone from a magnificent civilization made up of truly magnificent individuals and down to a world ant hill maintained by mere cage cleaners, a sorrowful breed of perfect dupes, perfect slaves.

But it had reached this state before as painfully recorded in the Books of the Prophets. These people deserve no consideration. In the end it will come down to that Intervention I've spoken of. For they obviously cannot do it for themselves. It will be done not for them but for that Creator who first set the ball rolling untold millennia ago in order to magnify his own name and image.
