

Nature Is Making a Comeback

Slowly, with barely a sound, the ground is giving way beneath the feet of the people that has sought for so many years to dispossess Majority America. Make no mistake. Though we can't hear the sounds of battle, "no quarter" combat has been raging for years. Our side, which some think is losing, has recently been scoring some important victories. Franz Boas, Margaret Mead and Stephen Jay Gould lie mortally wounded. It remains only to give them the professional, lost long ago, though the enemy has managed to mask the news of its defeat with amazing effectiveness.

Having established what is inherited and cannot be changed (intelligence, obesity and skull shape, to name a few), the "naturists" are now zeroing in on human behavioral traits. This is where the rubber meets the road. When you combine evidence of inherited behavioral traits with inherited intelligence, you have the sociobiological equivalent of a front-page story was, "Were You Born That Way?" Despite a heroic liberal-induced effort to fudge it, even Life found it impossible to hide the facts. The "nurture" citadel has fallen. The war is over. The subtitle was, "Personality, temperament, even life choices. New Studies show that it is mostly in your genes." Well, no kidding.

What surprised me even more was the frankness with which the article dealt with the predictable yelps of pain from scientific coup de grâce. When they finally breathe their last, their bloated corpses will be unceremoniously tumbled into a mass grave, where the moldering remains of Sigmund Freud have lain for the past decade. The tombstone, if there is one, will bear a stark and simple inscription: "Here lie the liars and the frauds, slain by the truth. The weapons of mendacity and deceit availed them not."

Sound a bit florid? Maybe, but the crude and brutal nature of this battle has not been exaggerated. The battle is between those who have argued that "nature," i.e., heredity, is the most important factor in human behavior, and those who say that "nurture," that is the environment, is the key determinant. Nature, after taking a terrible beating for most of the century, is back on its feet.

Hardly a day goes by without another bulletin from the battlefield announcing the abject surrender of another "nurture" bastion. The battle over intelligence was thermonuclear weapon. It totally demolishes the foundation for liberal/leftist thought. More importantly, it firmly establishes that the Instaurationist view is correct.

First, people are not "equal" in any way. Their differences are clearly marked by race and ethnicity. Second, no meaningful changes in behavior or intelligence can be made across a large group. No amount of social engineering will eliminate or even significantly reduce the differences in intelligence and behavior between whites and other races. Third, certain types of behavior can be predicted with rather grim regularity through an analysis of a person's DNA, which can uncover a penchant for violence, for example, or dishonesty or a lack of self-control. You can well imagine whose ox is being gored here.

A few days ago I picked up the April 1998 issue of Life magazine, the old 60s standby resurrected into a fairly interesting photo-and human-interest slick. The certain interested parties. A sidebar entitled, "Genes and Violence," tried but could not duck the obvious links between genes and black crime. Another sidebar dealt with homosexuality. A third with aggression. I chuckled as an obviously Feminazi mother was forced to admit that her son was "that way" because of his genes. Not so funny was her vow to "control the aggression." No doubt he will grow up a confused, bitter, resentful, dangerous homo, thanks to Mom's domineering and bullying.

Truth is like water. You can block it off, seal it up, act like it isn't there. Soon enough, though, it will start to seep through little cracks, eroding and crumbling everything in its path. The alien attempt to foist scientific falsehood on mankind is coming apart at the seams. Gould, Boas and others of that ilk are headed for the nether regions, to be frozen in ice up to their mendacious jaws. Let them rest there in peace, forever.

N.B. FORREST

Walt Welcomed Leni

Instauration's treatment of the Walt Disney story has been grand so far. But one salient item was missed—Disney's embrace of German film producer/director Leni Riefenstahl on her 1939 visit to Hollywood to sell her film, Olympic. Greeting the lady publicly caused Walt much grief in the Hollywood film colony, most notably from Budd Schulberg, who was later to go on and defame Leni in a particularly irresponsible article for the Saturday Evening Post in 1946.

Holocaust Fixation

I would like to say a few words to non-renewing Zip 199 (May 1998). Although I assume you mean well, you seem to be as obsessed with Holocaust Revisionism as most gun-toting Zionist thugs are with Holocaustian, neo-religious, fundamentalist witch-hunting crusades against "Nazi monsters," who are said to be "guilty" of "denying the undeniable truth."

To put it another way, Zip 199, you have far too narrow a focus regarding the Holocaust. You seem to have entirely missed the point of the article, "Context and Perspective in the Holocaust Controversy," by Dr. Arthur Butz, which appeared first in the Journal of Historical Review (to which publication many, if not most, readers of Instauration probably also subscribe) and which was later added as the second of two supplements to his book, The Hoax of the Twentieth Century.

We already know that the Holocaust was physically impossible, but we also know that most newspaper-reading white sheep simply and quite simple-mindedly don't care about any of that. Instead they follow the herd and join in on the lynch-mob hysteria of "Holocaust Remembrance" and always will.

To Judson Hammond

I got my monthly "high" today as Instauration arrived and I read your fine article, "The Aesthetic Prop and Beyond" (May 1998). The photo of Diana Mitford Mosley was striking, though her sister Unity was even more beautiful. You covered a lot of ground regarding the superiority of Nordic beauty. Unlike Dr. William Pierce of the National Alliance, who would "breed up" for intelligence, I would inbreed our race for sheer physical beauty first, then let the betterment of smarts take place naturally, as I really feel it would. Like many Instaurationists, I put Truth and Beauty ahead of all other things in life, with love naturally outcropping from this combination. Hopefully this would not be the love for "other-kind," to use Richard McCulloch's term, but love for one's own kind, which is anathema to today's foggy-brained universalists.

Cara (the character in your story) is quite a person. I have met her superior sort in my own walk through life, wondering like you if the young woman in question will throw it all away by linking up with a Congoid. We must hope that such ladies have more common sense and genetic sense than to submit to the musky allure and sweet talk (jive) of the ultimate race polluter.

I once shared an apartment with a fellow named Hammond. Extremely keen in verbal skills, he studied exotic languages like Urdu, Hebrew and Armenian. Unfortunately he was a fanatic race-mixing, anarchist "cook boy." When I first encountered your name in Instauration some years ago, I instantly thought of that very different Hammond who once actually declared that he wanted to see every black dude in town "sexing every blonde woman they could find." It was the ultimate "cold-sweat nightmare," to use your phrase. The guy had the complete solution for the destruction of our race. When I told him I thought that his idea was sick, he just laughed and asked me when I would join the 1990s and its "sophistication." Despite that incident, we were pretty good friends and had many a late-night discussion in his room where he would play ragas, songs and other Indian music. When my own racial consciousness grew, we saw each other less and less, finally losing touch altogether. Incidentally his father and mother were political conservatives who were disappointed in their son.

You were spot on to say that increasingly people seem to value Truth and Beauty less as Hollywood acquaints us with all manner of ugliness, perhaps to condition us to accept the incoming non-Nordics as desirable. We are being softened into welcoming the flood of brown man. I find the Slavic/Alpine and Mediterranean types almost as desirable as the Nordic. I'd always been repulsed by the Negroid aesthetically, but learned not to feel guilty for not finding acceptable the sometimes beautiful Oriental woman. I'm back on track now. White women and good genes all the way, baby.

Over the years I've admired articles in Instauration. A few years back I recall an article lamenting that the writer had not contributed to the white gene pool by marrying his own kind and producing offspring. Well, I must admit the same. I am not a great hunk, but my sister was a real beauty, indicating familial good genes that neither she nor I have passed on. The tragedy is that too many beautiful white women opt for careers. Shakespeare's first sonnet chides a beautiful maiden for not leaving "a copy" of herself. When I am faced with the plethora of plug-ugly fat white women, waddling along with some Congoids, their sorry offspring in tow, I can readily see the dysgenic trends lowering our collective IQ and standards of beauty. Am I too harsh here? I too have no one to blame but myself for my racial negligence.

Confusion Reigns

Zip 726 (April 1998) would be happy to resubscribe to Instauration if "it" were on the verge of doing something. Like what? I don't even vote. I really sympathize with him. It is a puzzler. Zip 770 thinks we're alone in the Universe. On page 20 we learn that the current world population is about 5.89 billion, most of them jerks!

Homo Blacks

I often thumb through old copies of Instauration. In the May 1997 issue, Zip 950 said blacks hated queers. Well, they must hate themselves. Being an inmate in a Florida prison, I have found that at least 80-85% of Negro inmates are homosexuals. They equate being cool with having a homo lover and walk around practically hand in hand. A bit of Negro logic: "I ain't gay because I am the man and he is the woman in this relationship." The administration seems to recognize these chain-gang marriages by putting the black queers in the same cell so they can set up house. Most of the time "Daddy" works for the man and has ratted on someone to receive this and other favors.

Rat Packer Gone

The way the death of Frank Sinatra was handled by the media you'd think that Jesus Christ had died for a second time. Reams upon reams of cheap adulation for a semi-illiterate associate of repulsive Jewish and Italian mobsters. Sinatra, whose problems with his vocal chords didn't seem to affect his popularity, profited greatly from the songs that clever songsters cooked up for him. His performances symbolized the shallowness of modern American pop culture—a stew of Hollywood vulgarities and mafioso mobsters, whose iron rule over showbiz few dared to dispute. Sinatra's fourth wife was a cast-off of one of the Marx brothers, a typical case of mate-swapping in the entertainment business. For some reason the press made much of Sinatra's blue eyes, an uncommon trait of south Italians. If his handlers were trying to pass him off as a Nordic, it didn't compute.

Christians Wanted

DreamWorks, the kosher-to-the-core movie company, is feverishly courting a Christian audience for its upcoming animated movie, Prince of Egypt, which has something to do with Moses. The Jewish film hierarchs are even hoping to get Christian leaders to hype the film—another classic instance of chutzpah. My local reviewer opined, "This is a marked change in attitude for the motion picture business, which in the past has treated organized religion with suspicion." Why go after a Christian audience? Put it down to MONEY, plain and simple. Would anyone care to speculate about what these same Jews would be saying if ChristianWorks Pictures had just put out a new film called Jesus, Prince of Peace?

782

Fanciful Writings

Rolling Stone, George and Harper's magazines have run articles by a 25-year-old Chosenite, Stephen Glass. After they had appeared in print and after some inexcusably delayed scrutiny, many of his writings were adjudged to have been made out of whole cloth.

Copycat Author

Joseph Heller has been coasting along on the reputation of his 1961 bestseller, Catch 22, for nearly four decades. Now he is accused of joining the ranks of plagiarists like Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and Steven Spielberg. Louis Falstein, a writer with the same background as Heller (Jewish, Brooklynite, similar wartime experiences), wrote a novel in 1950, Face of a Hero, that contains major resemblances to Heller's opus. Needless to say this is not the first time Jewish literary lights have been caught stealing from each other.

Super Goy

Judeophilia has reached empyrean heights in the person of Thomas Cahill, author of The Gifts of the Jews. Here is what he said in a hopelessly muddled syntax as he peregrinated around Florida peddling his book in various Jewish clubs and meeting places.

We can hardly get up in the morning or cross the street without being Jewish. We dream Jewish dreams and hope Jewish hopes. Most of our best words, in fact—new, adventure, surprise; unique, individual, person, vocation; time, history, future; freedom, program, spirit; faith, hope, just—are the gifts of the Jews.

"We" is a strange pronoun for an Irishman discussing Jews. It might be noted that in his book Cahill doesn't include such Jewish "gifts" as the rape of Palestine, the building of the atom bomb, the billion-dollar scams of Jewish Wall Streeters, Jewish mobsters, the cinematic excrement of Hollywood and, at a much earlier date, the massacre of the Egyptian firstborn.

Milken Redux

Sitting on prime Los Angeles real estate close to the Getty Museum, the Michael Milken High School, a Hebrew institution that concentrates on Jewish studies, is open for business. Much of the $50 million cost was coughed up by its patron. For this and other reasons Milken is getting a good press these days, despite having been the biggest financial scammer in U.S. history. Larry King and his sixth or seventh wife, Shawn, were given a private unveiling of the school. King, a one-time scammer himself, pronounced it "a magnificent structure."

Semitic Raconteur

Having cashed in with his book, Hitler's Willing Executioners, a racist tract that insinuated all Germans were anti-Semites, Daniel Goldhagen is now casting his Semitic eyes around for other examples of racial persecution of near-Holocaust dimensions. When two other Jews wrote a book repudiating Goldhagen's thesis, the ADL tried desperately but unsuccessfully to get the publisher, Henry Holt, to scrap it.

Judaization

If you should fret about the overwhelming Jewish presence at Harvard, you would be ostracized as an anti-Semite, unless you yourself are a Jew. Harken to these words from Rabbi Abram Goodman. In a letter to Harvard Magazine, he commented: "Now I witness a Harvard that has been thoroughly cleansed and Judaized." Consider the source and you will understand why there was minimal follow-up to this letter.

Another brazen example of Jewish arrogance appeared in New York magazine (April 27, 1998):

Not only do Jews now think and act like Americans; Americans now think and act like Jews. There's been a slow Judaizing of America in which it's becoming increasingly difficult to see where one begins and the other ends.

Think of Polyclitus, think of Michelangelo, think of Rodin, then shift your eyes to the Yoruban wood carving shown above. The N.Y. Times calls it art, adding this bombast: "Not long ago, African art was treated as anthropology. Now it has come into its own as exquisitely personal work by individuals of genius." This verbal aesthetic mishmash had to be written by an idiot, a black, a homo or a Jew. The rest of us have not yet fallen quite so low.

Turner Chickened Out

An Indian-led coalition has accused Ted Turner of racism for continuing to call his baseball team, the Atlanta Braves. The redskins made such a stink that when the Majority Renegade of 1997 was invited to Macalester College (MN) to receive an honorary degree, he decided it was the better part of valor not to receive the honor in person.

The Lawless Mrs. Barrys

Washington Mayor Marion Barry married twice. His first wife, Mary Treadwell, was convicted of two felonies. His second and present spouse, Cora Masters, was caught double-billing the city for expenses incurred when she was head of the D.C. Boxing Commission. Her felony conviction did not prevent her from continuing to teach political science at the University of Delaware.

Sacrificial Lamb

The House of Representatives killed the investigation of the hotly disputed and extremely close 1996 election defeat of longtime California Congressman Robert Dornan. Some 748 ballots for his Latino rival, Loretta Sanchez, had been classified as illegal and another 196 considered dubious. The Republican high command decided that it was better to sacrifice Dornan than to alienate Hispanics who, the Stupid Party seems to forget, vote mostly for Democratic candidates.

Kosher Hotline

Mislabeling and other kosher frauds are on the rise in New York. Over 100 instances a year are reported to the Orthodox Union kosher monitoring authorities who have resorted to the courts to resolve some of these cases. Rabbi Avraham Jural, however, does not want to raise legal questions about deceptive advertising too strongly for fear that the state's kosher law would be thrown out if challenged in court. In a Maryland case Jews lost the right to decide what is and what is not kosher. They don't want that to happen again.

Holocaust Hokum

Manfred Kohn, another of countless Holocaust survivors, built a Holocaust Memorial in the Jewish section of the Hillcrest Memorial Gardens in Leesburg (FL). The area is open to the dearly departed only if they are Jewish by birth or conversion. Kohn is hoping that future travelers will see the monument and ask what it means. If Manny wanted the monument to be a chatty conversation piece, he should have arranged to have it positioned it at a busy highway intersection or in the local mall.

The Unroyal Couple

What does Clinton really think about himself? If he had any self-respect, he would pack up, quit the White House and go to work for the Ford Foundation, a job for which he is ideologically suited. What he doesn't understand is that his very presence in the highest office in the land not only lowers its prestige, but that of the country and the citizenry as well.

Instead of the White House being the power center of the modern world, as well as a model of probity, Clinton has turned it into a quasi-bordello, some of whose transient females are the scrapings of late 20th-century womanhood.

What about Hillary? Has she made a pact with the Devil, to hear no, see no and speak no evil? She must, however, have a soul. She must bruise. She may be a raging feminist. She may be a lesbian. She may have some weird understanding with her husband. But she has to have feelings—feelings further exacerbated every day by some new revelation about her husband's addiction to fellatio, some startling new exclusive about the configuration of her husband's private parts. Life for Hillary, in spite of all the pomp and circumstance, must be a living hell. Yet she hangs on.

We can only imagine what she says—what she has to say—in her mother-daughter talks with Chelsea. Clinton, the target of a thousand dirty jokes, is not only killing the presidency; he is killing the American brand of democracy. What kind of a political system allows its highest office to be filled by a slob?

The Ultimate Triage

There was a moment when Hiroshima and Nagasaki were blasted that the U.S. could have kept a fairly tight monopoly on the Bomb by threats and devastating cautionary attacks on any nation that dared to take even the first step toward the development of any nuclear device. Chances are, of course, that sooner or later one or more nations would have penetrated the Bomb's secret. The American Jews in charge of constructing it were already passing many of its more important details along to the Soviet Union and later to the new state of Israel. At any rate even a short-term U.S. monopoly would have reduced the number of nuclear-tipped missiles scattered around the earth today.

Notwithstanding the doomsayers, all the nukes in the world exploding at once would not end civilization as we know it. There would always be some small, by-passed areas that would remain untouched, some small cities with a few well-stocked libraries and science laboratories that would supply the data needed to keep civilization alive and kicking.

It is even possible that what remains after the Big Bangs might be an improvement over the past. The destruction of the world's teeming, filthy, overcrowded cities might raise the collective IQ of the demographic remnants five or ten points. The crime rate would be dramatically reduced. Survivors might be inspired to pay more attention to the values of life, not the pleasures.

These comments might also apply to chemical and biological warfare. But since the world is already overpopulated and becoming more so every day, the extinction of as many as 5 billion of the 5.8 world population might actually be doing the planet a favor. Even if a lethal chemical agent or deadly bug exterminated 99% of the earth's inhabitants, there would still be 58 million people left. Some of the remnants would be in Africa. No improvement there. But some survivors would be in the more advanced parts of the world, where the occupants could form a collection of ethnostates that would provide suitable springboards for new leaps in human evolution. Even if the entire human race became extinct there is still hope. The earth was once an effective nursery for moving apes up to Homo sapiens. As Nietzsche said, what happened once can happen again, given enough time.

Clinton Finally in Trouble?

Many Jews have been willing to back Clinton all the way, despite his perennial skirt-chasing, despite his lying and stonewalling, provided he keeps filling the top slots of government with the Chosen. As is now becoming excruciatingly evident, some of Clinton's traditional support is weakening. He used to be so committed to supporting Israel that his knees bulged with permanent calluses. Recently, however, he has been acting in a way that is causing Jewish blood pressure to rise sharply. He actually told the Israelis to shape up and follow through on what they signed in the Oslo agreements. What's worse, he issued waivers that permitted France and Russia to make billion-dollar deals with Iran without running afoul of U.S. sanctions. Even worse, he was the first president to speak before an American-Arab group. On top of all this, Hillary came out in favor of a Palestinian state. As a result, some of the most loyal Jewish Clintonites are beginning to scream. Maybe, just maybe, they are whispering, it might be a good idea to impeach Clinton and replace him with Gore, who is practically a Jewish agent and has a nice Jewish son-in-law.

Already the media is bearing down on Loral, an American company, that has been selling China equipment to improve the performance of its satellites. Loral just happens to be controlled by Bernard Schwartz, who just happens to have been the single largest contributor ($500,000) to Clinton's 1996 reelection campaign.

Normally the press would downplay this routine sellout of American technology for political gain. If it does go after Clinton hot and heavy for his planned trip to China, it would be a further demonstration of Jewry's changing mood.

If the Jews really want to get rid of Clinton, all they have to do is get Monica Lewinsky to sing. A half-hour TV interview with this chubby blabbermouth might well bring down the presidency.

If perchance Hillary should decide to "tell all" about the scatological barnyard activities of her white-trash husband and say what she really thinks of him, the result would be even more devastating to the presidency.

Adjectives for Jews

One Rich Cohen has written a book, Tough Jews: Fathers, Sons, and Gangster Dreams, intended, he insists, to correct the public's mistaken image that "meek Jews [are] physically unthreatening office creatures." By using examples of Jewish thuggery, he seeks to demonstrate that the skill of Jewish hitmen is comparable to that of Israeli commandos—apparently the highest possible praise. I don't know where Cohen has been all these years, but most Americans have rarely seen a meek Jew. The most common adjectives for the Chosen in this country are obnoxious, pushy, greedy, money-hungry, ego- and ethnocentric.

In regard to their economic propensities, they advocate socialism for non-Jews, but capitalism for themselves.

All things considered Americans familiar with the role of Jewish criminals in the former Soviet Union and latterly as Mafia figures in Russia and the U.S. do not need any instruction from Cohen as to how Jews should be described.

Interesting Stats

A recent N.Y. Times poll found that 30% of Americans had an unfavorable view of Israel. Some 70% said the Zionist state had not done enough to prove its interest in peace; 19% asserted Jews had too much influence on U.S. foreign policy; 40% believed the U.S. was giving too much aid to the Israelis; 38% favored a Palestinian state. It is wise to treat any poll concerning Jews or Israel with caution. Many Americans are so fearful of Jewish power that they are reluctant even to say sotto voce anything negative about the Chosen.

Unforgetfulness

Thirty-three years ago, while attending Princeton, Seattle attorney Marvin Gray was elected president of a student club opposed to race mixing. The exhumation of this stale news inspired the White House to kill Gray's nomination to a U.S. District Judgeship. Our enemies have elephantine memories.

Latter-Day Sanhedrin

We've all heard about the Bilderbergers and the Trilateral Commission, but only recently are we learning about a much more cloutful clique, the Mega Group. The membership consists of America's 20 richest Jewish multimillionaires and billionaires, each of whom contributes $30,000 a year towards the operating expenses needed to carry on the Mega Group's business, which is to advance the cause of Jews everywhere. Charles Bronfman, co-chair of Seagram, artfully comments: "We don't want to be seen as a Sanhedrin. We want to make it cool to be Jewish." The group convenes twice a year. Each meeting lasts two days.

Better Off Red

While books even slightly tinged with revisionism are banned by mainstream American publishers, a new glossy, high-hyped edition of The Communist Mani- fest has hit the bookstores in New York and London. The illustrations are by two Russian-Jewish refugees. If you go in for totalitarianism, it is safer to wear a Red shirt than a Brown one. Karl Marx is probably responsible for millions of more deaths than Hitler, yet Der Führer is still deemed much more villainous. Could Marx's ethnicity have anything to do with his kid-glove treatment?

Disapproved Monopolies

A Jewish judge broke up AT&T. Jews were among the chief motivators in the long and exasperating antitrust action against IBM. It's no surprise that the man in charge of the war against Microsoft is Joel Klein, the Justice Dept.'s chief trust-buster. Jews seem to get a special charge going after extremely successful Majority companies. They don't seem as interested in punishing certified Jewish monopolies, like the Seagram booze empire and the Oppenheimer diamond cartel.

Wrong Word

Lenoria Walker, the $74,000-a-year head of Houston's $20-million-a-year affirmative action program, was suspended for three days by Mayor Lee Brown for calling a city council member, Joe Roach, a midget. If Ms. Walker had called Roach "a physically challenged short person," no reprimand would have been forthcoming. As it was, the black lady was so upset and discombobulated by all the publicity she up and resigned.

A new 32¢ U.S. stamp celebrates Cinco de Mayo, a Mexican holiday commemorating the 1862 defeat of Napoleon III's troops who were fighting to set up a French empire in Mexico. The stamp was issued jointly by the U.S. and Mexican postal services. Question? Why should the U.S. have a stamp that memorializes a war between two foreign nations?

O.J. Simpson's genes are getting a workout from his 29-year-old daughter, Arnelle. One alcoholic night in L.A. she crashed her Saab convertible into a sign, then into a concrete bus bench, then into a flower garden, finally into a two-story apartment building. A few days after a black had a racial altercation with the white owner of a sporting goods store in Harlem, it was burned to the ground. Three blacks youths decided they were going to have some fun in Haines City (FL). So four days after a preliminary killing they loaded up their guns and took off. First they shot a young woman who tried to prevent them from carjacking her auto. Later they burst into a motel room where a Georgia family was celebrating a reunion. The man who opened the door was shot along with four other celebrants. The final toll was two killed and eight wounded, one a 10-year-old girl with a bullet half an inch above her heart. The local media spent more time pretending there was nothing racial about the crime spree than they did about reporting it. The anti-racist argument was difficult to sus-tain since all the victimizers were black and all the victims were white.

The Clinton-Gore presidential campaign spent close to $100 million on TV plugs in the 1995-96 election. The consultants who placed these ads double-dipped by taking commissions on the advertising along with consulting fees. Jews like foot fetishest Dick Morris made $500k in 1995; a megabuck in 1996.

3.2 million interfaith marriages in the U.S. have at least 1 Jew. The divorce rate of these couples is an amazing 75%. One of the two children of journalist Steve Roberts (Jewish) and talking head Cokie Roberts (Catholic) ménage married a Protestant; the other a Catholic. Hebrew prayers were said at each of the two weddings.

The world Jewish population was 13,056,000 in 1995; 15,750,000 in 1940. If these figures, supplied by the American Jewish Committee, are at all accurate, Jews have regained roughly half of their Holocaust losses. On the other hand, the figures could be used to prove that the number of Holocaust victims was wildly exaggerated.

Waspishly Yours

Moderator of a recent C-Span minyan was Frank Brookhiser, senior editor of the National Review, whose preeminent pledge is to William F. Buckley, prince of pontificators and atavistic conservatism. Buckley's style is somnolent insolence. Listening to him Bill and coo, it's hard to tell if the embalming fluid is ingressing or egressing.

The second character is pug-nosed, has a bulldog lower jaw and is decked out in a dykish (boy toy) red haircut and with a body to match. She is Deborah Lipstadt, professor of Holocaust studies at Emory University. Are those Georgians snakebit or just entranced by tarantulas? Concussed by falling peaches on Peachtree Street or just guilt-tripping out on peach brandy? Feminist studies? Black studies? Now Holocaust studies?

Third, David Gelernter, a Jewish professor of computer science at Yale and victim of the Unabomber. Untypically, he was quiet and quite happy his book was published, which he interpreted as proof of the good taste and freedom of the press.

Fourth, David Horowitz hawking his book that deals with his doublecrossing conversion from radical liberalism (i.e., communism) to radical conservatism. Horowitz, whose parents were lifelong Commies, began his political life as a 60s radical, along with Tom Hayden and other Berkeleyite bashers of the white bourgeoisie. Surprise, surprise! Horowitz ripened into a radical rightist who targeted his Marxist-trained howitzers on the Black Panthers. A Jew who is—goatee and all—a live ringer for Leon Trotsky, Horowitz now heaps the same scruffy dedication on conservatism that he once lavished on liberalism.

Finally, Andrea Dworkin, a rabid feminist but independently repulsive in her own right. If you have ever seen her in action, you know what I mean. The motives for her dedication to radical feminism become kristallnacht clear as you harken to her horrific spiel. Her dress of choice is a tent-sized pair of bib overalls. Her hair could serve as a fright wig. She claims to have been "assaulted" by two doctors, who allegedly perpetrated the penetration after she had been arrested in a 1965 "civil rights" protest and thrown in a house of detention. The doctors must have been veterinarians trained in a Manhattan hog-wallow. Their olfactories must have been removed during the rhinoplasty.

Appropriately enough, this mostly kosher choir, this minyan of minions, was convened to chew the fat about censorship and the media. Can you imagine? These Jews have all been published. They've all been interviewed ad nauseam. Yet they all kvetched about censorship.

It reminded me of a gathering of Jews assembled by sellout Charlie Rose to discuss Palestine, to wit: our stealth Jewish secretary of state, madcap Madeleine Albright; Australian Jew Martin Indyk (formerly "our" ambassador to Israel, formerly associate director of AIPAC and currently under secretary for the Middle East); Chosenite Dennis Ross (our "negotiator" in the Middle East); orthodoxly bearded Frank Gaffney, guru Israeli gaff-meister; and yahoo Bibi Netanyahu. Voilà, snake-eyed Charlie Rose's idea of an objective panel convened to "discuss" the Middle East.

Lipstadt was pleasantly astonished at how well her denial of Holocaust deniers had sold and was selling. But if Lipstadt was surprised, wasn't she the only one? Isn't the real point that a low-brow professor could find an American publisher, while David Irving, a distinguished historian and acknowledged authority on Nazi Germany, could not?

I despise the current academic crazes for deconstructionism and historicism. Briefly, deconstructionists want to separate language from reality, from "things." Thus language becomes strictly "self-referential" and relates only to itself, not to a reality "out there." Thus language becomes a snake swallowing its own tail and truth becomes a chimera, a kind of cabala accessible only to initiates—and even they can never really know anything. (A French Jew, Jacques Derrida, is the leading light of this dark attack on the sanity of language.)

Lipstadt has damned deconstructionism with faint praise. She asserts that enthusiasm for it waned when it was discovered that Paul de Man—chief guru of the movement at Yale—had been a Belgian Nazi during WW II. Have you noticed how "objective" Jews and liberals can be when it comes to truth in philosophy? Derrida's most famous American exponent was a Nazi in his salad days! Suddenly language has meaning and responsibility.

Historicism claims that history is a fiction, that the powers that be decide what's true. Feminists just love the freaky Frenchman, Michel Foucault, who, before he died of AIDS in 1984, did more than anyone to spread the disease of historicism. Once again, there is no "objective" version of history, so women were never given their due because the power structure was always masculine. (Forget Cleopatra, Elizabeth I, Marie Antoinette, Josephine and Madame Pompadour, Catharine the Great, Indira Gandhi, Margaret Thatcher and, greatest of them all, that all-American gold-digger Golda Meir, who deployed tactical nuclear weapons against Egypt in 1973). Actually Foucault may have a point. Wasn't it Winston Churchill who said, "History will be kind to the Allies; I plan to write it?"

Lipstadt's reaction to Jewish intellectual Hannah Arendt is negative. Why? Because Arendt had an affair with Martin Heidegger, arguably the greatest philosopher of the 20th century. Philosophy is fine; any fool can philosophize, even Derrida. Heidegger was a momentary Nazi and Arendt's "relationship" with the great one apparently extended well beyond her student years at the German university where Heidegger reigned supreme. Perversely, I'm puzzled by Heidegger's interest in her. Certainly she was bright. Certainly an older man might have been flattered by the attentions of a younger woman. But what good is philosophy if it doesn't teach wisdom? Could comedian W.C. Fields have been wiser than Heidegger? Didn't Fields quip that a woman is just a woman but a cigar is a good smoke? According to Lipstadt, at the same time Arendt was accusing Jews of collaborating with Nazis, she was also perpetrating a "revisionist" version of Heidegger's life.

How can language tell the truth about Heidegger and Arendt, but not tell us what is real? How can Holocaust survivors recall gas chambers from 50 years ago, but Netanyahu not remember what Jews signed at Oslo two years ago? How can Jews remember pogroms in Poland and Russia nearly 200 years ago? Why can't they remember that they lost Jerusalem over 2,000 years ago, while still pretending it's theirs? The Brits had it, the Turks had it, the Arabs had it, the Romans had it, the Greeks had it, the Egyptians had it, the Persians had it, the Syrians had it, the Assyrians had it, the Hittites had it, and the Canaanites had it. To top it all off, Jerusalem itself was founded by Jebusites!

What a funny thing is language! What a funny thing is memory! Maybe history is just a perception which power can transmogrify into truth. What flaw in Golda Meir's memory could make her declare that Palestine was a land without a people for a people without a land?

What really irks Jews about Arendt is that she cited Adolf Eichmann as a prime example of the "banality" of evil. How could anybody believe that this mediocre little man, this marvel of mediocrity, had anything to do with something like Auschwitz? So what if he looked "banal?" Can't a bookkeeper be evil? Who cooked the books on how many were "gassed" in those camps? What banal-looking monster invented the lie about lampshades made of human skin? Was anybody more grandmotherly than Golda, who hated those nasty Arabs because they forced innocent Jews to kill them? How come that killers like near-midget Shamir, blubbergut Sharon and Menaphlegm Begin are never banal?

If history is what the power structure says, who wrote the history of the Holocaust if not Jews like Deborah Lipstadt herself? If the Nazis had won, and they had taken charge of the history of WWII, would the Holocaust have disappeared? What happens to objectivity, if one rejects Arendt, de Man and Heidegger because of personal revulsion, not for their ideas? Certainly Ben-Gurion, Meir, Shamir, Peres, Begin and Sharon are (or were) all beautiful people, so who could disbelieve them? If Lipstadt can dismiss Heidegger because he nattered about Nazis, how come unrepentant Zionists like the two Yitsucks, Shamir and Rabin, and pirate-eyepatched Moshe Dayan, have never been called to bell, book and candle? Why are we dragging small-fry Serbians into the dock for genocidal murder, while Chosenites like Sharon and Netanyahu still prowls around free?

Professor of Holocaust studies and defender of academic freedom and the first amendment, Deborah Lipstadt declared she would never debate a Holocaust denier. In a TV discussion of media censorship, she declared that deniers had a right to speak their swill, but their books should never be published or advertised. Moreover deniers should be banned from TV panels composed of published Jews discussing censorship. But isn't that, effectively, censorship?

Is there a conflict of interest here? If a professor of Holocaust studies refuses to debate the deniers, isn't she just preaching to the choir? What's she afraid of? If the deniers are lying, why not expose them for the anti-Semitic, Neanderthal numskulls they are by giving their ideas the maximum exposure possible?

Who decides what is erroneous? The Sanhedrin which Pilated Jesus to death? Pilate who executed an innocent man for the sake of peace in the simmering Semitic polity? Was Socrates right in committing suicide because he was condemned to death legally? Why did we hang the legal government of Germany at Nuremberg? The Israelis refuse, for example, to surrender the territory they agreed to relinquish at Oslo, because they refuse to commit "suicide."

Who is more intolerant of diversity than an Orthodox Jew? Can a Christian proselytize in Israel? Does error have the right to exist in America's Asian beachhead? Since the messiah has not yet arrived, does Israel have the right to exist?

Horowitz-Trotsky was horrified because the liberal media were not as horrified as he was by the horrors of the Black Panthers he exposed. But was Horowitz-Trotsky himself so horrified, so hot to trot against the liberal media, when he was a media darling in the 60s?

Andrea Dworkin resented being forced to flee to England to escape the American media, the Sceptred Isle apparently being more congenial to her firebrand form of feminism. The English abhor rape. Otherwise they might have extended their hospitality to the two medical freaks who allegedly extended their testicular hospitality to Andrea Dworkin. Anyway our paperweight reporters couldn't read her any more than they could hold her down. So she hied her eiderdown hide off to England to Park her Hyde.

Brookhiser endorsed Führeress Lipstadt's refusal to engage deniers in verbal combat. He said he had once refused an offer to debate a Communist. Since Reds always lie, he opined, why bother to debate? Why bother to expose their lies to public view? But what happened to Pope John XXIII's ecumenism? And didn't the present Pope drop in on Communist Poland and Communist Cuba? Does Brookhiser claim to be more Catholic than the Pope?

Is that why Brookhiser and his boss, languid William Buckley, have never debated Zionism? Because Zionists always lie? Who was the guy who announced that all it takes for evil to succeed is for good men to do nothing?

If we only debate those who never lie, aren't we condemned to an endless monologue? Has Brookhiser never lied? If I only debated those who never lied, I concede from the outset that my putative opponent is simon pure. If he's so honest, what's there to debate? If I refuse to debate liars, I'll be forever talking to myself.

George Washington never told a lie. Is that why he never jousting verbally with King George? Since the Continental Congress wrangled for years to wring out a constitution, none of its members ever told a lie. Lenin, Stalin and the rest of that ignoble crowd must have been purity itself since they debated endlessly. Before they shot the losers.

I am relieved to hear that debaters Brookhiser and Lipstadt refuse to debate anyone who has ever told a lie. What a relief it must be for Lipstadt to know that Hitler's whole life was one endless, interminable debate. And before Hitler came to power, Germany must have been packed with the purest politicians of all time, for Hitler debated them all. Stalin and Hitler did sign a temporary pact but never debated, except before the shattered walls of Stalingrad. If Lipstadt and Brookhiser refuse to debate liars, what's the point of even discussing the perils of censorship? For we all know that the media never lie, so why would it ever censor anybody or need to be censored itself? (Are you listening, Socrates?)

Chosenite Gelernter was smarter than the others on the panel. He barely said a word. So he didn't have to address the question of why this Jewish-dominated clique was picked to comment on censorship.

I, however, am anxious to debate, because that would prove that I am neither a Holocaust denier nor a Communist. It would also prove that I never lie, that I am pure, that I am worthy of jousting with pristine Jews. If one only debated those who never lied, how could one ever confront Zionism?

V.S. STINGER

To pretend that the recent murders of Majority schoolchildren by Majority schoolchildren is due to social malaise is pure drivel. Majority kids may have pulled the triggers in these bloody events, but they were not acting on their own. They were acting as they had been told to act on the tube, in the movies, even in video games.

The violence has been inspired by people who have little in common with Majority members, young or old. The "people" referred to are Jews, the Hollywood culture grinders, who tell the producers, directors, writers and actors what to do, how to look, what to say, how to think. Let's face it, contemporary American entertainment is not really American entertainment, but Jewish entertainment. Although barely more than 2% of the population, Jews dominate every aspect of show business from top to bottom, right down to the profession of the mythical "steamer," the hireling who adds a zero to every figure put out by the movie moguls and TV bosses.

Jews care about the social order, but they care more about their Jewishness, which makes it possible for them to close their eyes and ears to the horrors they foist on the public. Their conscience is even less troubled when they bank the huge profits that flow from this cinematic and electronic gold mine.

From what they see, juveniles are led to believe that modern life has been reduced to a succession of condoms and bullets, that flashes of knives and the rat-a-tat-tat of automatic rifle fire are the normal pattern of human existence. Scenes of utter brutality on the flickering screen are being impressed on the minds of youngsters at their most impressionistic age. The sweetest sounds to their ears are the pop-pop of explosive cartridges crashing into skulls, the sweetest words the repetitive banalities and obscenities spoken in the most highly praised film fare.

It is only fair to say that if Jews were removed from the entertainment business, Majority schoolboys would not be so enthused about going on murderous rampages against fellow students, teachers and even their own parents. They would not have seen the images that put these thoughts in their minds.

The two greatest vulgarians in the current stage of entertainment are Jerry Springer and Howard Stern, the former 100% Jewish, the latter 50% Jewish genetically, but 200% culturally. Springer, whose disgusting on-camera antics has earned him a larger daytime audience than Oprah, orchestrates fights between the lowest-brow humanoids he can herd before the camera. It's interesting to trace the genealogy of the Springer show. It is owned by Studios USA, which in turn is controlled by Barry Diller, one of those millionaire Jews who can't keep his financial fingers from poking into every aspect of the entertainment industry. His man, Springer, set a new low in smut in mid-May when he put on a show on bestiality. He entitled one episode, "I Married a Horse," a marriage that supposedly lasted for five years between a man and an equine. He also had a woman recount her romance with a dog. Finally came a man who was more sexually attracted to canines than to people.

Howard Stern's scabrous contribution to late 20th-century civilization is broadcast over hundreds of radio stations, and more recently on Canadian radio, which claims it sticks to higher standards than its American counterparts. Stern launched his program by calling French Canadians "scumbags." To twist the knife even further, he said Canadians in general had produced little more than "hockey players, whores and William Shatner." So far Stern is hanging on to his Canadian broadcasts, perhaps because the national chairman of the Canadian Broadcast Standards Council is Ron Cohen.

It should not be forgotten that the penumbra of U.S. television reaches across the Atlantic. An interviewer for BBC, Chicago-born Ruby Wax, scored a recent coup when she featured O.J. Simpson pretending to stab her with a banana. Daniel Petrocelli, the lawyer who won the wrongful death civil case for the Goldman family, described this emetic display as the Juice's "creeping confession."

Another half-Jewish showman is Geraldo Rivera, who recently finished his 2,163rd and last episode of his daytime show. He is now moving to bigger nighttime audiences with a program about law and lawyers. Rivera, it will be fondly recalled, had his nose broken when he insulted some Majority activists on camera. The Judeo-Latino says he is "going straight," whatever that means.

Jeeves, the perfect English butler in P.G. Wodehouse's novels, was played in the TV series by Stephen Fry, a Jewish actor. Once plagued by a severe cocaine habit, Fry describes himself as "90% homosexual." That a Jewish actor was chosen to represent the archetypal British manservant in a British TV series says much about the state of British television.

CNN's Larry King has just signed a contract giving him $7 million a year for five years. Pretty good pay for a former(?) con artist.

From Satcom Sal. 60 Minutes did a segment on Denny's restaurants and their fawn-over-a-black-today tactics—the result of ultra-costly discrimination suits for not seating and serving blacks fast enough. Denny's, along with McDonald's and Burger King, are eatery chains I'll never patronize!

Notes from the Sceptred Isle—John Nobull

All that matters is the survival of our people. Internationalism obviously works against that. So does nationalism, insofar as it tries to integrate the nation. As our esteemed editor has pointed out in a cogently argued book, we are entering an era of ethnostates, which means the breakdown of nations, except for those few where the majority constitutes most of the population.

There is no denying that Tony Blair has been clever in bringing about agreement over the Irish question. He began by isolating the Unionists. This was done by giving Scotland back the right to have its own parliament, and Wales its own assembly. That left the unionists in Ireland with a very tricky question: which country were they in favour of uniting with. Presbyterians, who constitute a majority of the Northern Irish workers, have little in common with England and are mostly of lowland Scottish origin. The Unionist middle class is at least half Anglo-Irish. Therefore a council of "these isles" (the Nationalist Irish hate the term "British Isles") to watch over Northern Ireland will consist of the Irish Republic, Britain (i.e., England), Scotland and Wales. That is the best deal David Trimble could get under the circumstances. Everything will now depend on how it is interpreted. I don't think Trimble will sell out, as Ian Smith did in Rhodesia.

The IRA has not given up its weapons and will not do so until the British army does. Since the army would then be helpless, that would be tantamount to its withdrawal from Ireland. There is absolutely no guarantee that the IRA would follow suit. The question remains, why was the IRA ready to sign any agreement? The answer lies in the intransigent nature of the Protestant paramilitaries, most of whom are Presbyterian. (Calvinists are not compromisers, like those who belong to the Church of England or the Church of Ireland.) Scottish Presbyterians were the backbone of the American Revolution, as stated at the time by a Hessian officer on the British side. Washington himself said that, if necessary, he would make his last stand with the Scotch-Irish of his native Virginia.

The Northern Irish Presbyterians put up with a great deal for a very long time before they set up their own paramilitary groups. By 1970 they had only killed 850 Irish nationalists, as against 3,200 or so killed by the IRA. But most of the victims of the paramilitaries were killed during the last three years of the troubles. The turning point came when the IRA sent in a quiet fanatic to set off a bomb in a fish-and-chip shop on the Protestant Shankhill Road. (The bomber was of the same stripe as Blessed Oliver Plunkett, a beatified religious fanatic who died in Dublin many years ago, and who was found to have rusty chains eating into his skin.) Nine people were killed including the bomber himself. He was buried with a laudatory graveside speech by Gerry Adams. Within a few days, the paramilitaries walked into a Catholic pub and fired at random, killing eight people, the same number as the Protestants killed on the Shankhill Road. It was clear that they were going to kill and kill, as long as the IRA went on doing so. Down in South Armagh and South Down, some hardcore Irish and sundry other crackpots wanted to "continue the struggle," but IRA leaders in Belfast were beginning to realise that their lives were on the line, that the paramilitary "mad dogs" would kill them with pleasure if they went on shooting Protestants in the back. Hence the cease-fire.

The Dublin uprising of 1916 was carried out in the open. Whatever one might think of it, there is no doubt that it involved a great deal of courage on the part of the participants. But terrorism is gangsterism, even when it seems unavoidable. The upshot is that the terroristic IRA has created some very dangerous Protestant terrorists, who would just love to even the score. If Gerry Adams gets the Nobel Peace Prize (like Menahem Begin!), it will not recommend him to the Protestant paramilitaries, let me tell you. They will be around for some time. Prince Charles was taking a calculated risk when he shook the hands of their leaders in Belfast.

Irish Americans may perhaps disagree with me. I know that, like Gerry Adams, many of them want to see a million people of British origin leave Northern Ireland. That could not be done peacefully and would involve a large number of blood sacrifices to Kathleen ni Houlihan (the guardian spirit of Ireland) by those trying to drive them out. Consider for a moment that there are six million people of Irish origin in Britain. Do the Catholics in Ireland want to undermine the position of six million people of Irish origin in Britain?

Canada. Canadian customs seized 98 books, suspected of being filled with hate propaganda, from the car of Paul Fromm, leader of Canadian Assn. for Free Expression. One volume was the Irish Fairy Tale Book, not exactly a subversive tome. Held up by another customs unit was Ingrid Rimland's three-volume novel, Lebensraum, which, with its Tolstoyan sweep, may turn out to be one of the great literary works of the 20th century.

The U.S. is not the only country that has Jewish hoaxers. Jonathan Bishinsky, a specialist in internal medicine, was arrested and charged with setting fires to two synagogues in London, Ontario. The Jewish firebug was also wanted for arson in Phoenix (AZ).

The Canadian Jewish News (March 3, 1998) reported the discovery, on what would have been his 63rd birthday, of a long-lost Elvis Presley album in which he belts out Yiddish songs. Elvis, some of his groupies insist, had a Jewish grandma.

From a subscriber. Former schoolteacher Malcolm Ross has Jews grinding their molars over his libel suit victory (Elsewhere, June 1998). A long-time target of the Chosen, Ross has written books stating that Judaism is the enemy of Christianity. For this not necessarily untrue statement, he was eventually hounded out of his teaching job by the New Brunswick Human Rights Commission. In 1993, at the apex of the controversy prior to his dismissal, fellow teachers held a day-long seminar on Holocaustology at a local synagogue. A featured speaker was Jewish cartoonist Josh Beutel, whose fervent denunciation of Ross—he called him an outright Nazi—was accompanied by overhead slides of drawings portraying him in vulgar and indecent poses. Last April, Ross won $7,500 in damages from Beutel. The New Brunswick Teachers' Association was ordered to pay the plaintiff's costs.

Ironically the Ross case had prominent Jews reversing their usual stance. Beutel claimed in his defense that characterizing someone as a Nazi is no longer injurious to a person's reputation. The Canadian Jewish Congress waxed Jeffersonian, calling the court's decision "a very dangerous breach of the right to free speech." The CJC, lest we forget, is Canada's foremost exponent of censorship.

Beutel, of course, will appeal, which will put the financial squeeze on Ross, who has only a fraction of the financial resources of the Jewish organizations sworn to do him in.

England. Over the years Instauration has reported the ongoing disparagement by neocons, liberals and Marxists of American Majority members, particularly Majority heroes. The same anti-Majority campaign has been going on in England, but with a twist. The media there do their tarring with the homosexual brush. Such gigantic public figures as Cecil Rhodes, Lord Baden Powell and, more recently, Field Marshal Kitchener, have been labeled homos, though in each case the proof was pretty skimpy. What detractors of the British Majority seem to ignore is that every man who remains unmarried during his lifetime is not necessarily a queer. Also a man who is not "hipped" on skirt-chasing is not automatically a homo. On the other hand, the true-blue, certified poofter is often madly oversexed.

Mossad ranges far afield in its wiretapping operations. Its latest screw-up was revealed when three Mossad agents were caught redhanded bugging the home of an Islamic activist in London.

"Ethnics" comprise 1% of Britain's soldiery. To boost this percentage the Ministry of Defense has invited Colin Powell to come to the Sceptred Isle and explain how well America's multiracial armed services are functioning. Instead of having a passé Negro general advise them on accelerated race-mixing, British generals might be sent to the U.S. to take a closer look at the American military. Seeing that things were not so rosy—what with all the rapes and pregnancies—they might return home in a more separatist than an integrationist mood.

France. A Holocaust movie, La Vita E Bella, won the Grand Prix at this year's Cannes Film Festival, but only after it was given a "thumbs-up" by a special ADL inquisitorial unit. The problem was, the film is a comedy, which Jews feared might trivialize the sacred Six Million. After heated discussions ADL honchos gave the film the green light. If the self-appointed censors had disapproved, millions of non-Jews might never have seen it.

Of all the phony democracies in the world, France in many ways is the phoni-

est. The Front National commands 15% of the vote in most elections, yet has zero representation in the French Assembly. Two FN delegates, who did manage to get elected, were thrown out on technicalities. The Communist Party, which represents about 8% of the voters, has nearly 40 representatives in the Assembly. Such is democracy in France. The hard right party is frozen out of the French legislature. The leftist parties have voting blocs that can walk all over the conservative opposition.

The Front National had been kicked around so long by the French establishment that members can be forgiven for turning sour on the whole democratic process. If Le Pen's program is called fascism, what do you call people who see to it that political parties they don't like don't count?

Any mention of a voting alliance between the mainstream conservative parties and the Front National is considered the crime of crimes. A tremendous uproar occurred when some conservatives managed to win a few regional elections with the help of Le Pen's minions. They were immediately ordered to resign their newly won offices. Most did.

In the mid-17th century French Protestants (otherwise known as Huguenots) numbered 900,000. By the time of the French Revolution the count had shrunk to 470,000. Today the Prots have bounced back to 900,000 (2% of France's population), divided among 15 denominations. (The Economist, April 18, 1998)

The world is splitting into two factions: The West where the Holocaust is Holy Writ; the Islamic world which is distancing itself from the Six Million rubric. One disbeliever, Roger Garaudy, a French convert to Islam, stated at a television seminar hosted by the Iranian Foreign Ministry some stark truths about the media's stranglehold on the Occidental mindset.

People in the West can condemn their highest leaders, but they don't have the right to utter one critical word about the Zionist regime. I can say with certainty, America and Israel are one and the same. The majority of senior American officials are Zionists and they use their influence to promote Israeli interests.

Garaudy was fined $20,000 last February for his book, The Founding Myth of Israeli Politics. In the latest move to silence Le Pen, a Versailles court stripped him of his civil rights for two years, fined him $3,700 and handed him a three-month suspended jail term.

Germany. As if it were not enough that Israeli officers teach in military schools in Germany, the German government has now sent a group of army cadets to Israel for training. Upon arrival in the Jewish state, German army chief of staff Lt. General Helmut Willman and 17 cadets spent an hour touring the Yad Vashem horror museum. Among their other duties, the Germans laid a wreath on a tomb allegedly containing human ashes from Nazi death chambers.

A Düsseldorf court ruled against a "German" housewife, 25, who wanted to name her boy Chenekwahow Migiskau Nikapi-Hun-Nizeo Alessandro Majim Chay ara Inti Ernesto Prithibi Kioma Pathar Henrike. The judge said a child could only have a maximum of five names.

Austria. Maria Koppensteiner was the daughter of Hitler's mother's sister, which makes her der Führer's cousin. Belonging to an Austrian farming family, she had absolutely nothing to do with Nazism or her famous relation. Nevertheless, Soviet goons grabbed her at WWII's end and dragged her off to a Gulag, where she died in 1953. The last time she saw Adolf was in 1906 when she was six.

Poland. In its gory days the Auschwitz concentration camp had a brothel, theater, post office, hospital and an orchestra. It also had a swimming pool which inmates could use. (Auschwitz 1270 to the Present by Deborah Dwork and Robert Jan van Pelt, W. W. Norton, NY, 1996)

Russia. From a subscriber. Supporters of Alexander Lebed, at the moment Russia's leading presidential candidate, have proposed the general's name to the Nobel Prize selection committee for his work in mediating minority disputes in Moldavia and helping to bring an end to the Chechnia conflict.

To win the governorship of Krasnoyarsk, Lebed had to polish and prettify his gruff image which had minimal appeal to the ladies of that vast region. The resourceful and obviously well-advised general accomplished this project by recruiting French movie heartthrob Alain Delon, a longtime favorite of Russian women, to campaign for him. The strategy worked beautifully. The majority of Russian women in Krasnoyarsk gave their ballots to Lebed.

Disdainful of the current literary scene in Russia, Solzhenitsyn chose to award his newly established Alexander Solzhenitsyn Literary Prize to a brilliant but little-known Russian philologist, Vladimir Toporov, who has written a two-volume work on Russian saints. In deference to new national tastes, most Russians have abandoned reading literary classics in favor of romances, detective stories, pornography and other trash translated into Russian from mostly U.S. sources.

In his appointment of Jews to top government posts, President Yeltsin seems to be following the lead of Clinton. The new Prime Minister of Russia, Sergei Kiriyenko, is part Jewish, as is Boris Nemtsov, one of the three deputy prime ministers. Boris Berzovsky, newly appointed secretary of the CIS, an association of the 12 former Soviet republics, is also Jewish. (N.Y. Times, May 15, 1998)

Israel. A quarter of a million foreigners, half of them illegal immigrants, toil in Israel. A Thai farm worker was arrested in April for molesting a 23-year-old Jewess. In general Thai workers are held in high esteem, except for those who eat stray dogs and cats.

While all the world knows about or believes it knows about Saddam Hussein's alleged weapons of mass destruction, Victor Ostrovsky, in his new book, The Other Side of Deception, tells readers about the ABC warfare laboratory in Nes Ziyvona, a town near Tel Aviv. (ABC stands for Atomic, Biological, Chemical.) To test the efficacy of some germs, Israeli scientists injected them into the veins of Palestinian prisoners. Years later, Israeli doctors took their lethal baggage to South Africa where, under the guise of running an outpatient clinic, they gave Negroes medicine that was much too dangerous to test in Israel.

The Giant Panderer made a pilgrimage to Israel in May where his brown-nosing of his hosts reached epic proportions. For some incomprehensible reason Gingrich seems to think that all the Republicans have to do to attract Democrats to their party is to out-Jew the Jews in regard to Israel. In a speech before the Israeli Knesset, he demanded that Jerusalem become the officially recognized "eternal capital" of Israel, although the city had been the center of Palestinian civilization for the last thousand years and although it has been or should be understood that diplomacy would make the final decision on the division of Jerusalem. That Gingrich called Secretary of State Madeleine Albright a "Palestinian agent" didn't help to restart the stalled "peace process."

South Africa. A white male and an Asian-Indian woman copulated in full view of the passengers on a South African Airways flight from Johannesburg to London. The couple didn't even bother to use a blanket to mask some of their blatant fornication.

Apparently when apartheid ends, mass murder begins. In 1992-97, 464 white farmers have been killed in 2,730 attacks by blacks.

Zimbabwe. No so long ago Canaan Banana (yes, that's his real name) was the president of this country, which used to be known as Rhodesia. Today he is in court facing 11 charges of sodomy, attempted sodomy and indecent assault.

Argentina. Under pressure from the Jewish community, a large component (300 lieutenants) of the Buenos Aires police force was fired in early December 1997 on the basis that some policemen had connections to those who had bombed the city's Jewish community center. The fired cops are also the primary suspects in hit-and-run desecrations of Jewish graveyards. An anonymous letter in the newspaper, Pagina, written by a group of ex-cops called the Buenos Aires Movement, promised: "Former cops will not lay down. They shall hit. They will rob banks and attack Jews."

Australia. The B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation Commission is leading the fight to muzzle the Internet. If Aussies want to keep a modicum of free speech, they better start clamping down on Jewish racism. They can start by writing the Internet Industry Assn., Box 826, Epping, NSW 2121, Australia.

Indonesia. The media downplayed the all-important racial factor in the recent violence that swept the country. Much of the looting and shooting was directed at the Chinese minority, which controls more than half of the country's wealth, though it comprises only 3% of the population. No wonder the Chinese are called "the Jews of the Far East."

Books That Speak for and to the Majority

The Dispossessed Majority by Wilmot Robertson. No one who reads this all-encompassing study of the American predicament will ever again view his country and himself in the same light. The author brilliantly recounts the tragedy of a great people, the Americans of Northern European descent, who founded and built the U.S. and whose decline is the chief cause of America's decline. Although replete with cogent criticism of the people and events which have brought America low, the book ends on a positive, optimistic note, which envisions a resurgent American Majority liberating its institutions from the control of intolerant intellectuals innately programmed to destroy what they could never create. Over 150,000 copies sold. Updated 1996 hardcover edition, 613 pages, 1,000 footnotes, $25.

Ventilations by Wilmot Robertson. The author of The Dispossessed Majority firms up and expands some of his key ideas. In fourteen probing essays he answers his critics, comments on current domestic and foreign policy, and tells young Majority members how they can best oppose the reverse discrimination that is making them second-class citizens. Also included is a blow-by-blow description of the media's suppression of The Dispossessed Majority. Softcover, 115 pages, $12.

The Ethnostate by Wilmot Robertson. Six years in the writing! A savvy prospectus for a post-modern statecraft. The author warns that the U.S. is getting too big, too racially divided, too bankrupt to survive. He proposes that the only means of saving Americans—it may be too late to save America—is to spin them off into homogeneous, independent regions or ethnostates. Otherwise the U.S. will become another Brazil or Somalia, as it sinks deeper into barbarism. Such chapters as "Up the Devolution," "The Morale Factor" and "Unguessing History" overbrim with constructive ideas for solving cultural and economic problems that till now have seemed insoluble. Softcover, 232 pages, $12.

Race and Reason and Race and Reality by Carleton Putnam. In response to the black power agitation of the 50s and 60s came two searching, scholarly, objective, last-word studies of the equalitarian movement. When everyone else was silent, Carleton Putnam—lawyer, airline executive and historian—spoke out. In reasoned, crystalline prose he methodically demolishes almost every point, argument and cliché in the liberal-minority ideological handbook, warning us in advance of the affirmative action programs that were bound to follow. Softcover, $12 each.

Why Civilizations Self-Destruct by Elmer Pendell. To survive, we must reverse the lethal process that increases human quantity while reducing human quality. In the precivilized states of man, natural selection produced a superior variety of human whose intelligence was eventually channeled into building an advanced social order that protected instead of eliminated the unfit. When the protected outnumber the protectors, civilization begins to die. If we follow Dr. Pendell's advice, we could be the first to successfully defy this apparently inexorable life-and-death cycle. Softcover, 196 pages, index, $13.

The Mediator by Richard Swartzbaugh. The author, an assistant professor of anthropology, explains the many clever ways the mediators and go-betweens who abound in America exert great influence over our daily lives. The book's subtitle could easily be, "The Unmasking of a Powerful Establishment." Hardcover, 133 pages, $13.

Camp of the Saints by Jean Raspail. Ghastly, mind-reeling scenario of what is in store for the Occident if liberalism, apathy and minority racism continue to weaken the Western will to survive. The author, a bitterly sardonic Frenchman, charts the dying convulsions of France from the day a million famished Third Worlders embark on a fleet of leaking hulks in Calcutta and sail off to the land of milk and honey. One of the first great uncompromising novels of modern times. Hardcover, 311 pages, $23.

Race by Dr. John R. Baker. The world-renowned Oxford biologist has assembled almost all the available physiological and historical evidence to prove that races differ mentally as well as physically. Baker's book gives the reader the excited feeling of discovering a whole new fund of knowledge, almost a secret knowledge, since the facts have been kept from him for so long by a "politically correct" academic establishment. There are many keys to history—Toynbee's, Spengler's, Marx's, Freud's—but surely it is time to examine the master key. Hardcover, 625 pages, index, $25.

Toward a New Science of Man by Robert Lenski. A constitutional psychologist explores the biological forces which underlie white despair and disintegration. The search for the behavioral causes of decline uncovers many little-known relationships: eye color and reactivity; social mobility and fertility; somatotype and personality; human beauty and symmetry.

Quotations from 500 great writers on Nationalism, Parasitism, Dominance, Shame, Sexual Selection, Immigration and "all the ideologically hot subjects of our day." Softcover, 252 pages, $15.

The French Revolution in San Domingo by Lothrop Stoddard. A grim, frighteningly lucid account of the step-by-step destruction of white civilization in the richest island in the New World. By the time the Negro emperors had taken over, every single white colonist, together with his wife and children, had either fled or been massacred. The end result was Haiti, today the poorest and most rundown of the large Caribbean islands. Softcover, 410 pages, $16.

The Ideal and Destiny by Richard McCulloch. An 11th-hour philosophy for racial salvation. Championing the cause of Northern European man, this intelligent, thorough diagnosis and prognosis of our time of troubles tells us how to rise above the isms that are plaguing us. To ensure our resurgence, the author has developed new ways of understanding history, economics, sociology, anthropology, culture and aesthetics, especially the latter. He exposes the destructive excesses of altruism as a "quest for non-existence" and challenges the "metaphysical significance" bestowed on the favored peoples and causes of liberalism. Hardcover, 534 pages, $20.

Destiny of Angels by Richard McCulloch. The author puts particular emphasis on the steps that must be taken to save Northern Europeans and their descendants overseas from racial suicide. His thesis is that it will be a great historic tragedy if Northern Europeans and their descendants overseas do not fulfill their enormous evolutionary potential. A paean to the incomparable talents and accomplishments of the most aesthetic race. Hardcover, 314 pages, $20.

The Nordish Quest. Still another provocative book by Richard McCulloch, who emphasizes the ethical factor in racial relations. After defining what he calls the Nordish race in clear anthropological terms, he asks for an end to all types of racial interference, miscegenation and cultural imperialism. Any form of racial supremacy is strongly condemned. Any form of racial separation highly recommended. Softcover, 108 pages, $12.

The Racial Compact. In his fourth book Richard McCulloch focuses on the primary and urgent issue of racial preservation, describing the rising tide of multiracialism now engulfing the Northern European peoples and its racially destructive consequences. To save the Northern European race he offers an alternative to the racial ethics of the past and present, calling for a new culture of racial relations that promotes racial rights, preservation and independence. A foundation and manifesto for a racial preservationist movement. Softcover, 135 pages, $10.00.

The Crowd by Gustave Le Bon. The brilliant French psychologist jumped the gun on Freud, Pareto and Ortega y Gasset in a study of the popular mind. Crowds, wrote Le Bon, do things which individuals would never do. They have a personality of their own, often a destructive personality, and are the unruly offspring of mass democracy. The author's low opinion of historians, his rueful opinion of religion and his high opinion of race are refreshingly controversial and mentally stimulating. Softcover, 207 pages, $18.

Hereditary Genius by Sir Francis Galton. Inventor of fingerprinting and founder of the science of eugenics, Galton demonstrates the inheritance of intelligence by tracing generations of achievement in eminent British families. Hardcover, 446 pages, $22.

Instauration. Wilmot Robertson's monthly magazine, essentially an ongoing update of The Dispossessed Majority, fully briefs its subscribers on the political, economic and cultural war being waged against Euro-Americans. Only by understanding what is being done to us—and how it is being done—can we mount an intelligent defense. Instauration raises Majority morale by projecting and detailing the race's great potential. A mental and physical tonic that will keep you in touch with people who think as you do and who are doing something about our predicament. Now in its 21st year. Twelve issues annually, mailed in plain white envelope. $35 third class; $45 first class; $48 Canada; $50 foreign (surface mail); $67 foreign (air); sample copy $3.

Best of Instauration in two volumes: 1977 and 1978. A choice selection of the contents of two years of Instauration. The original page size has been retained, meaning that the 116 pages of each book represent at least 232 ordinary book pages. Virtual encyclopedias of revisionist history, the two volumes are loaded with ingenious, factual writing on philosophy, history, literature and current events that can't be found in other contemporary publications. Softcover, $12 each.
